Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF JUNE—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The outstanding historic event for which this month will no doubt always be memorable was unquestionably the action of President Hoover in undertaking to come to the relief of Germany and a debt-stricken and trade-depressed world generally with his proposal for a one-year suspension of German reparations payments and also all other intergovernmental debt payments of every kind. The proposal electrified and thrilled the whole world and met with popular acclaim everywhere outside of France, Germany's next-door neighbor on the West, where popular sentiment appeared to be overwhelmingly against anything that looked like a modification of the Young plan for the payment of German reparation annuities or anything that might seem like violating the sanctity and sacredness of treaty and contract agreements deliberately entered into. The markets everywhere responded to the implications of this novel proposal. It looked like the inauguration of a new era of good-will among the nations of the world, where old hatreds and animosities would be blotted out and forgotten, and the nations of the earth yield to a spirit of amity and friendship.

The New York stock market staged a recovery which for the magnitude of the rise in prices within a short space of time has few, if any, parallels in past history. The financial markets abroad, and particularly stock prices in Germany, responded in the same fashion. Our grain markets, likewise, showed improving tendencies, notwithstanding that the Federal Farm Board held unsold accumulations of wheat to an aggregate of 200,000,000 bushels or more, which hung like a pall over the grain situation. The non-ferrous metals, which had fallen into a state of almost complete collapse, immediately felt the quickening impulse, and in the case of copper large orders piled up, both on domestic and foreign account, with the result of sending the price of the metal for copper delivered at factories in Connecticut from an extreme low figure of 7¾ to 9c., though with a subsequent reaction to 8¾c., and even to 8½c., as doubts began to develop as to France's acquiescence in the Hoover proposal. Probably no single event in the world's history since the signing of the Armistice in November 1918 exercised such a widespread and general favoring influence as this proposal of Mr. Hoover for the temporary suspension of intergovernmental debts.

The action encouraged hopes also that this event would mark a turning point in the long period of trade depression which has been a common affliction of all the leading countries of the globe for 18 months or more. Indeed, it was from that standpoint, as well as for the relief of Germany, that quick, immediate benefits were counted upon. Having engendered a new feeling of confidence and invested the future with more assured hope than for many months past, and the indications being that the depression in trade must be nearing its end anyway, a feeling developed that with definite brighter visions ahead as the result of the President's action the merchant and the business man would be inclined to abandon their policy of hesitation, and proceed once more to display the old spirit of vim and enterprise. As the month approached its close somewhat of a dampening influence was exerted by the receipt of intelligence that France showed antagonism to the Hoover proposal, though the disposition remained strong to think that the effects of the new impetus given to business zeal and energy would not be lost whether the proposal was carried through or not, depending upon future developments.

And this calls attention to the fact that there were other constructive influences at work during June. The month marked the close of the half year, and candor compels the statement that as far as trade is concerned it was one of the poorest half years in the industrial history of the country. In the steel trade things got so bad that at the end of the month the steel mills of the country were working to the extent of only 34 or 35% of capacity. It was high time, therefore, that there should be a clearing away of past troubles and misfortunes, and the way be paved for a new and brighter state of things. Mr. Hoover contributed one factor to that end. But there were several other constructive moves destined to brighten prospects both for the nearer and more remote future. Chief among these was the endeavor of the great rail carrying interests to obtain better transportation rates, thereby placing this great carrying industry once more upon its feet. A petition for a 15% advance in freight rates was definitely filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission during the month. Another cloud which was definitely lifted was the clearing up of the local bank troubles in Chicago, which had for many months existed as a menace to the situation in that part of the country.

The official date of the Hoover proposal may be said to have been Saturday, June 20, when Mr. Hoover made his first pronouncement indicating that steps were being taken for the relief of Germany. Mr. Hoover's statement itself, however, showed that he had been entertaining the idea for some time previously, and had, indeed, been consulting many different people about it, including the Congressional leaders of both parties, before venturing upon a public announcement regarding the matter. Apparently Mr. Hoover's convictions of his duty in the premises became stronger as the German financial situation grew more critical, and the flight of capital from Germany, accompanied by heavy gold exports, grew in intensity. The German troubles really had their origin in the embarrassment in May of the Austrian Kreditanstalt, the largest private bank in Austria, which was bound to have severe repercussions in Germany because of the close relationship existing between Germany and Austria. Many different events contributed to the misfortunes of Germany as the month moved along.

Political misgivings, combined with financial anxieties, added to the trials and anxieties in Germany. One of the events that gave rise to a feeling of distrust, at least in France, was some "conversations" that took place early in the month between some representatives of the German Government with officials of the British Government on a visit of the former to the latter. The visit took place on Saturday, June 6, and Sunday, June 7. It had been awaited for a long time, with no little interest. It took place at Chequers, the official country residence of British Prime Ministers, and the participants were Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius of Germany, and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, and the President of the Board of Trade, William Graham. The two German officials were invited for the week-end of "friendly discussions" early in April, and the brief announcements indicated that no subject would be ruled out of the conversations. Immediately after the arrival of the Reich representatives in London, late June 5, Dr. Bruening made statements to newspaper correspondents which clearly indicated the probable trend of the Chequers talks. Taxation burdens borne by his countrymen were outlined by Chancellor Bruening, and he also emphasized the rapid growth of radicalism in Germany, it was reported. "The present German Cabinet is convinced that the solution can come only from the frank co-operation of all nations of the world," Dr. Bruening stated. It was suggested in the press reports that such remarks could hardly be interpreted otherwise than as presaging an attempt to convince the British Ministers of the need for revision of the present system of reparations payments. "German burdens under the Young plan have not decreased, as predicted, but have increased, according to Dr. Bruening, by $600,000,000 in the last 14 months," a London dispatch to the New York "Times" said. "The moratorium provided by the Young plan was not sufficient, according to the Germans, to meet their present emergency and would not relieve them of the necessity of raising money for the payment of the non-postponable part of their annuity, even if it did delay its transfer to the creditor nations. What the Germans now want, and what they say is essential to the staving off of either Fascism or Communism in their country is a real moratorium, which will enable them immediately to relieve the people of part of their burdens, to be followed by a re-examination of the whole question of reparations by an international conference or committee." An impartial international examination of the German economic position was suggested, the dispatch added, while it was further stated on the strength of the press reports that Germany was willing to undertake continued payments of the unconditional annuities, amounting to about $175,000,000 a year. Revision of the postponable portion, amounting to about $300,000,000 a year, together with present postponement of the revised payment, was definitely included in the German plan, it was said.

A statement issued to the press by Dr. Bruening late June 5 expressed the thankfulness of the German representatives for the invitation of the British officials. "We propose to speak frankly about all these things which are now troubling every land in the world, and particularly we shall talk about the difficulties we are having in Germany with our budget and our economic life generally," the statement said. After citing the four separate efforts of the German Government in the previous 14 months to increase taxation and reduce expenditures, the statement added that reductions in reparations payments effected by the Young plan had been unavailing in reducing the burden on German taxpayers. "We have been forced to increase taxes and cut down expenditures, thereby effecting budget economies in 14 months to the extent of 2,500,000,000 marks," the statement continued. "The present German Government will do all it can to have a sound financial policy. . . . The political difficulties in Germany are very urgent. Radicalism is growing there. We know very well that the solution of all these problems is not possible if we are to rely upon ourselves alone. These are questions common to all countries. The present German Government is convinced that the solution can come only from the frank co-operation of all nations of the world."

While the British and German Government heads conferred at Chequers, discussion raged in all countries regarding their aims and purposes. The British view was summarized in a London dispatch June 6 to the New York "Times," which remarked that Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius evidently were determined to make the most of the opportunity presented by the meeting for letting the whole world know how serious was their country's financial plight and how much it needs easier terms than those of the Young plan. Hostile criticism of the Germans was not absent, it was added, but appeared to emanate from French and Polish groups in London, who accused the Reich representatives of maneuvering to win Britain as an ally in a new move for revision of reparations. This view, it was specifically indicated, did not accord with the opinion of the British public or the British Government.

England, the dispatch said, does take Germany's situation very seriously and does believe there is grave danger of political disturbances in that country which might be followed by a Soviet or Fascist regime under which there would be a cessation of reparations payments, instead of a mere decrease in the annual totals. "The British Government also believes the United States alone could avert such a situation, if she would," the report continued. "But beyond such an expression of sympathetic agreement and a reminder of the Young plan moratorium device, the German Ministers will get no satisfaction from Premier MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson at Chequers on the question of reparations. The attitude taken by Great Britain in this matter ever since the Anglo-American debt settlement is more a matter of sportsmanship than politics and remains the same regardless of which party is in power. The British Government will ask for relief for herself from Washington and will not assume the position of an intermediary between America and any European country. That is why Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius will return to a harassed Berlin next Tuesday without any encouragement to believe this country will participate in any joint endeavor to get a re-examination of Germany's ability to pay, if such an effort could be interpreted as a preliminary to a campaign to bring about a reversal of Washington's policy. England is sure it could not be interpreted in any other way. It is also quite certain that Dr. Bruening and Dr. Curtius will return to Berlin without leaving in the breasts of Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson any added assurance concerning the success of the general disarmament conference at Geneva next February, which was the one question for discussion which was uppermost in the minds of the British Ministers when they invited the Germans over for frank and friendly discussions."

After the conversations ended on June 7 an official statement was issued by the Foreign Office in London to indicate the nature and course of the discussions. Representatives of both Governments agreed upon the wording of the communication, it was said. The document related that conversations had taken place between the two German and three British Ministers, and it also listed those present at a luncheon on June 7. "The visit was arranged several months ago as a means of establishing personal contacts," the statement continued. "The opportunity of these informal meetings was taken for friendly talks on the position in which the German Reich and other industrial States now find themselves. Special stress was laid by the German Ministers on difficulties of the existing position of Germany and the need for alleviation. The British Ministers, for their part, called attention to the world-wide character of the present depression and its special influence on their own country. Both parties were agreed that in addition to efforts and measures of a national character, a revival of confidence and of prosperity depended upon international co-operation. In this spirit both Governments will endeavor to deal with the present crisis in close collaboration with the other Governments concerned." Quite as significant as the contents of this official memorandum was its omission of all reference to disarmament, London reports pointed out. In a dispatch to the New York "Times" it was remarked that the subject was indeed discussed, but only in the course of the luncheon on the second day, when A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the British Admiralty, joined the conversations. "In the face of Chancellor Bruening's insistence that his country needs immediate assurance of early economic alleviation, even the pacifist dreams of Mr. Henderson for next year had to take second place in the conversations," it was said.

In the British House of Commons, on June 10, Prime Minister MacDonald stated that his Government had no present intention of making any moves toward an international war debt conference. Questioned by a Conservative M. P. on the possibility of mutual cancellation of debts on a large scale, Mr. MacDonald replied that the "attitude of this country in regard to war debts is well known, and action on the lines suggested would not in the present circumstances serve any useful purpose." He stated that the Chequers conversations resulted in no definite conclusions or decisions beyond those set forth in the official communications. A rumor that Mr. MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson might pay a return visit to Berlin on the invitation of their recent German guests at Chequers was confirmed by the Prime Minister, who said that such an invitation had been accepted but that no definite date had yet been fixed for the occasion. In view of the widespread discussion of a possible moratorium by Germany, an official denial was issued in Berlin on June 9 that any demand for a moratorium was then under preparation by the German Government. "At the same time it is agreed," an Associated Press report said, "that the Government realizes the people will demand something more tangible regarding the war debts than they have yet received. It is expected that some action toward that end may be taken late this month or early next month."

Clearly timed to coincide with the Anglo-German discussions at Chequers were an emergency decree of the German Government imposing additional tax burdens, and a proclamation which amounted to a formal first step in the direction of a moratorium on, or downward revision of, reparations payments. These official pronouncements of the Reich Government were published June 6 as the Chequers conversations were beginning. The proclamation, issued as a sort of preface to the emergency decree, was by far the more important document from any international viewpoint. Termed "historic" in Berlin reports, this manifesto was assumed to mark the beginning of a new phase in the protracted struggle to settle the twin problems of reparations and inter-Allied debts. "The Berlin official attitude is," a dispatch to the New York "Herald Tribune" said, "that the world-wide economic crisis can be ended by laying aside the uneconomic debts arising from the World War. The Government holds that the Young plan has been thrown upon the scrap-heap by the universal trade depression, and that not merely a moratorium but a thoroughgoing revision of that settlement is required if a business revival is to come." Especially significant, it was pointed out, was the use for the first time in an official document of the term "tribute" in referring to the reparations payments. This reflected the growing bitterness in the Reich, even in responsible govermental circles, toward the settlement of 1929, it was said. "The expectation that the world economic crisis would ebb in 1931 and thereby relieve distress and unemployment in all industrial States and still more in the raw material and agricultural countries has proved deceptive," the proclamation began. Citing the extent of German foreign trade, the document stated that the Reich could not save herself from the common distress under which even nations victorious in the war were suffering severely. Added to the effects of the general crisis were the special burdens imposed upon Germany as the vanquished in the war. "These payments were undertaken," the proclamation related, "on presuppositions which have not been realized, and they deprive our economic system, impoverished by the war and by inflation, of the capital it needs for its preservation and development. Deprivation of capital means the stoppage and restriction of plants, unemployment, diminution of private income, and last, but not least, diminution of the revenues of the State. In addition, our purchasing power in the world's markets is diminished by the amounts we have to pay in reparations for which we do not receive any returns. The tribute payments weaken us as purchasers and compel us to restrict our imports. They compel us to increase exports, against which other countries are raising stronger and stronger barriers. The consequence is embittered intensification of the struggle for the world's markets." The added burdens imposed at the same time on the German people were necessary in order to maintain the Reich's solvency, the proclamation stated. Reproaches that German affairs had not been managed economically were declared to be unjustified, as the Reich expenditures had been decreased by the several reductions in the huge sum of 1,500,000,000 marks. German States and communes also had economized drastically, it was pointed out, and even further sacrifices would have to be made. "We have harnessed all our forces in order to meet our obligations incurred through losing the war, and we have had to call on foreign assistance in the widest measure to do this," the manifesto continued. "This is no longer possible. The putting forth of the last power and reserves of the nation entitles the German Government, and makes it its plain duty to the German people, to tell the world: The limits of the privations we have imposed on our people have been reached. The presuppositions upon which the Young plan came into being have been shown by the course of world development to have been wrong. The alleviations the new plan was to bring the German people, as was the intent of the participants and which at first it gave promise of bringing, have failed to be realized. The Government is conscious of the fact that the direly menaced business and financial position of the Reich calls imperatively for alleviation of the unbearable reparations obligations. The economic recovery of the world also depends upon it."

The new emergency decree, issued at the same time, was signed by President Paul von Hindenburg and placed in effect under Article 48, which permits the assumption of dictatorial powers by the Executive in case of a public crisis. It provided means for covering a deficit of approximately 574,000,000 marks in the Reich budget, most of which was due to a decline in revenues. The budget was reduced 120,000,000 marks to begin with, mainly by lowering the salaries of officials and by cutting the unemployment insurance benefits for Germany's army of unemployed. Pensions of partially disabled war veterans also were reduced. Increased revenues were sought in additions of 1 to 5% in the income tax, in a doubled tax on sugar, in a heightened tariff on imported petroleum, and in a readjustment of the sales tax. The decree also included a provision whereunder the German railways are to place orders amounting to more than 200,000,000 marks over their 1931 estimates for replacement of trackage. This measure is designed to aid the iron and steel industry and to provide work for 120,000 of the unemployed. Publication of these measures unloosed a storm of indignation throughout the Reich, Berlin dispatches said. The position of the Government became critical, as even the habitual supporters of the Bruening Cabinet turned to a fierce attack on the fiscal measures. Leaders of the important Socialist party, on whose support Dr. Bruening relies, were assailed by their followers with a demand for relinquishment of the policy of "tolerating" the Bruening Government on the theory that Fascism or Communism could thus be staved off in the Reich. "Chancellor Bruening will find an ominous assortment of storm signals flying from the political mastheads on his return to Berlin," a dispatch to the New York "Times" remarked. The return of the two Reich representatives from Chequers on June 10 was marked solely by jeering crowds of Fascists, further dispatches said. Rioting directed against the new decree was instigated by Communists, Associated Press reports said, in such widely separated cities as Mannheim, Kassel, Frankfort a/M., and Gelsenkirchen. Fascists and Communists alike attempted to force the calling of an early session of the Reichstag for discussion of the decree, the Berlin correspondent of the New York "Herald Tribune" reported, but such efforts were contested by Dr. Bruening.

The political dissensions for a time seemed to threaten the downfall of the Cabinet headed by the Centrist leader, Dr. Heinrich Bruening. "There are enough political combustibles regularly stocked up in Germany to supply the makings of any sort of trouble wanted," a dispatch to the New York "Times" remarked. "Such a series of events as the German visit to Chequers and hopes it inspired, the Government's new tax levies, and the resultant nation-wide demand for a new reparations deal have provided exactly the sort of atmosphere in which German party politics delights to frolic, regardless of the nation's domestic and foreign interests." The threat of a Cabinet crisis arose through efforts of the important Socialist group in the Reichstag to have a special session of the Budget Committee of the Parliament called with the aim of amending the provisions of the emergency decree. Although not represented in the Cabinet, this group has consistently supported Chancellor Bruening, preventing the overturn desired by Fascist and Communist extremists. In order to deal with this situation, Dr. Bruening hurried back to Berlin from East Prussia, where he had gone to confer with President Paul von Hindenburg on the results of the Chequers meeting. After protracted discussions with other party leaders, the Chancellor issued an ultimatum on June 16 that he would resign if a special session of the Reichstag or the Budget Committee were called. The Socialist move for Parliamentary reconsideration of the decree was promptly withdrawn.

In the meantime a financial crisis was fast developing in Germany because of the strain to which the Bank of Germany was being subjected owing to the flight of the mark from Germany because of the many unfavorable developments noted. The Bank of Germany suffered an enormous drain on its gold holdings, and on Saturday, June 13, jumped its discount rate up from 5% to 7% effective June 15, while on the latter day the Austrian National Bank, which on June 6 had raised its rate from 5% to 6%, further advanced to 7½%. At the same time the National Bank of Hungary advanced from 5½% to 7%. The Bank of Germany, in its return for the week ending June 15, showed a decrease in its holdings of gold coin and bullion in the extraordinary amount of 534,359,000 marks, equal to $134,000,000. This followed 90,397,000 marks decrease the previous week. These large losses were reflected in heavy decreases in the holdings of earmarked gold by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. On June 15 the New York Reserve Bank reported a decrease in the amount of earmarked gold in the sum of $41,680,000. This followed $7,534,000 decrease on June 13 and decreases also on preceding days of that week. A late transaction on June 15, however, served to reduce the decrease for the day in earmarked gold by $10,000,000. On June 16 earmarked gold decreased by another $9,786,200. The statement of the New York Reserve Bank for the week ending June 17 made the total decrease for the week $75,819,000, which came after a decrease of $2,489,000 the previous week. Quite obviously the Bank of Germany had no such huge amount of gold on deposit with the Reserve Bank for release, but it was believed that through arrangements with the Bank of France, considerable amounts of the Bank of France gold holdings were also released or unearmarked. On June 15 $6,690,600 more gold was released from earmark, and on June 19 a further decrease of $3,438,600 was shown in the earmarked gold for foreign account held by the New York Reserve institution. Foreign loans on gold for $16,700,000 which the Federal Reserve Banks showed in their return for June 24 are also understood to have been for German account, representing advances made by the Federal Reserve banks on gold in transit from Germany to the United States. At the end of the month the New York Federal Reserve Bank reported that $92,000,000 gold had been released from earmark during the month of June, and that $26,000,000 gold had been received by direct shipment from Germany. Cable dispatches from Berlin June 26 stated the necessity for the German credit had been made clear by the statement of condition of the Reichsbank as of June 23, which had appeared the previous day. This revealed that, on account of a further loss of gold and foreign exchange since June 15, the date of the last previous statement, the ratio of the Reichsbank's gold and foreign exchange holdings to its outstanding notes had fallen from 48.1 to 40.4%, as compared with the legal minimum of 40%. Since May 30, when the drain on the German bank of issue began, owing to withdrawals of foreign funds from Germany, the Reichsbank, it was pointed out, had lost 979,100,000 marks of gold (about $244,775,000) and 93,600,000 marks of foreign exchange (about $23,400,000). The total loss was 1,072,700,000 marks, or about $268,175,000.

All this paved the way for the action which President Hoover in the end found it incumbent to take. Very contradictory statements were current all through the early part of the month as to what the United States contemplated doing, but the first intimation that the President had it in mind to depart from the country's traditional policy of holding aloof came about the middle of the month when, in response to questions by newspapermen, Under Secretary of State Castle said that while the administration policy in regard to war debts was clearly established, it was open minded of the whole question. He said that in case of a serious crisis, obviously the Government would have to consider whether a temporary change in policy was necessary. However, he said, he did not think the situation at this time could be described as a serious crisis.

Late on June 19 came a statement from the President himself, which read:

"Since my return from the Central West yesterday, I have conferred with those leaders of both political parties who are present in Washington with respect to certain steps which we might take to assist in economic recovery both here and abroad.

"These conversations have been particularly directed to strengthening the situation in Germany. No definite plans or conclusions have yet been arrived at, but the response which I have met from leaders of both parties is most gratifying.

"Any statement of any plan or method is wholly speculative, and is not warranted by the facts."

There followed, late on June 20, the statement by President Hoover announcing the proposal for suspension of interest and principal payments on war debts due the United States, on condition that a similar suspension be negotiated on inter-Allied debts and on reparation payments by Germany. The suspension would be for one year, beginning July 1, and would not apply in any way to the debts contracted by private parties. The statement made it clear that Mr. Hoover had consulted with numerous Senators and Representatives in order to make certain that the necessary legislative authority would be granted for the move. He listed many leaders of both branches of the Congress, who had given their approval. He also stated that preliminary approval had been expressed by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Owen D. Young, who were the guiding spirits in the two conferences that have so far regulated the reparations payments by Germany. "The American Government," the statement said, "proposes the postponement during one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts, reparations and relief debts, both principal and interest, of course not including obligations of governments held by private parties. Subject to confirmation by Congress, the American Government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign governments to the American Government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on intergovernmental debts owing the important creditor powers. The purpose of this action is to give the forthcoming year to the economic recovery of the world and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from abroad." Mr. Hoover added that effects of the depression are more serious in some other countries than in our own, with the result that an ever-increasing importance attached to the intergovernmental debts. He remarked also that an abnormal flow of gold into the United States is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries, diminishing their buying power for our exports and thus adding to our own difficulties. "Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist in the re-establishment of confidence, thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world." Remarking on the need for Congressional approval of the step, Mr. Hoover stated that it amounted to a suggestion to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors. "I wish to take this occasion also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the Allied governments of Europe," Mr. Hoover continued. "Our Government has not been a party to, or exercised a voice in, domination of reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property. The repayment of debts due to us from the Allies for the advances for war and reconstruction was settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations, or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation. I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts due to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations has ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world. I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists. This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity, in which our people have so deep an interest. I wish further to add that while this action has no bearing on the conference for limitation of land armaments to be held next February, inasmuch as the burden of competitive armaments has contributed to bring about this depression, we trust that by this evidence of our desire to assist we shall have contributed to the good-will which is so necessary to the solution of this major question." In the following we give the full text of President Hoover's statement making the debt suspension proposal:

The American Government proposes the postponement during one year of all payments on inter-Governmental debts, reparations and relief debts, both principal and interest, of course, not including obligations of Governments held by private parties. Subject to confirmation by Congress, the American Government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign Governments to the American Government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on inter-Governmental debts owing the important creditor Powers.

This course of action has been approved by the following Senators:

Henry F. Ashurst, Hiram Bingham, William E. Borah, James F. Byrnes, Arthur Capper, Simeon D. Fess, Duncan U. Fletcher, Carter Glass, William J. Harris, Pat Harrison, Cordell Hull, William H. King, Dwight W. Morrow, George H. Moses, David A. Reed, Claude A. Swanson, Arthur Vandenberg, Robert F. Wagner, David I. Walsh, Thomas J. Walsh, James E. Watson.

And by the following Representatives:

Isaac Bacharach, Joseph W. Byrnes, Carl R. Chindbloom, Frank C. Rowther, James .W Collier, Charles R. Crisp, Thomas H. Cullen, George P. Darrow, Harry A. Estep, Willis C. Hawley, Carl E. Mapes, J. C. McLaughlin, Earl C. Michener, C. William Ramseyer, Bertrand H. Snell, John Q. Tilson, Allen T. Treadway and Will R. Wood.

It has been approved by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and by Mr. Owen D. Young.

The purpose of this action is to give the forthcoming year to the economic recovery of the world and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from abroad.

The world-wide depression has affected the countries of Europe more severely than our own. Some of these countries are feeling to a serious extent the drain of this depression on national economy. The fabric of inter-Governmental debts, supportable in normal times, weighs heavily in the midst of this depression.

From a variety of causes arising out of the depression, such as the fall in the price of foreign commodities and the lack of confidence in economic and political stability abroad there is an abnormal movement of gold into the United States which is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries. These and the other difficulties abroad diminish buying power for our exports and in a measure are the cause of our continued unemployment and continued lower prices to our farmers.

Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist in the re-establishment of confidence, thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world.

Authority of the President to deal with this problem is limited, as this action must be supported by the Congress. It has been assured the cordial support of leading members of both parties in the Senate and the House. The essence of this proposition is to give time to permit debtor Governments to recover their national prosperity. I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors.

I wish to take this occasion also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the Allied Governments of Europe. Our Government has not been a party to, or exercised any voice in, domination of reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property. The repayment of debts due to us from the Allies for the advances for war and reconstruction was settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation.

I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations has ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world. I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists.

This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our own people have so deep an interest.

I wish further to add that while this action has no bearing on the conference for limitation of land armaments to be held next February, inasmuch as the burden of competitive armaments has contributed to bring about this depression, we trust that by this evidence of our desire to assist we shall have contributed to the good-will which is so necessary to the solution of this major question.

The French reply to Presidents Hoover's proposal, made public in Paris on Friday, June 26, was as follows:

The French Government has taken note with great interest of the proposal of the President of the United States and declares itself in cordial accord with the high sentiments which have inspired this proposal.

The French Government is, more than any Government, desirous of seeing affirmed acts for the economic reconstruction of the world, a solidarity which has always inspired France, whether it be in accepting a successive reduction in the German debt or whether it be in executing the anticipated evacuation of the third Rhineland zone in exchange for definite and complete settlement of the reparations program decided at Geneva in September 1928.

Emphasizes Sacrifice.

The Government wishes to emphasize before world opinion the extent of the new sacrifice which is asked of France after all those to which she has already consented.

To reply to the suggestion of President Hoover, the French Government is ready to ask of the French Parliament, whose intervention is indispensable and whose decision is sovereign, that France abstain provisionally and during the delay of one year from keeping any payment coming from the Reich.

But, considering the nature of the engagements of the Young plan freely accepted and very recently signed, the solemnity with which the definite and the nondeferable character of the unconditional annuities by which the necessary permanence of the principle of reparations has been recognized the risk would be great of destroying confidence in the value of the signatures and contracts and thus to act contrary to the object in view, if, in the suspension of the payments proposed, the nondeferrable annuities were treated like the conditional annuities.

Sees Principle Violated.

The French Government emphasizes in particular that formal assimilation has been established between the private debts of the Reich (the Young and Kruger loans) and the unconditional annuities not yet mobilized. To suspend payment by Germany of the unconditional annuity while admitting that the interest on the Young loan placed before the public continues to be paid, would go directly against a fundamental principle and against expressed stipulations.

The Government considers that there is a moral interest of the first order that, even during the delay suggested by President Hoover, the payment of the unconditional annuity in no way be deferred.

The French Government, careful to colloborate widely with every attempt made to attenuate the consequences of the present crisis, believes it should make clear in the very interest of the success of this effort that the general suspension of payments alone would offer an insufficient remedy. The dangers now menacing German economy and more generally European economy have another origin and are due notably to important credit restrictions or withdrawals of foreign funds.

The solution of the German crisis, therefore, does not appear to lie only in the diminution of the charges on the budget of the Reich but in an extension of credit.

That is why the French Government declares its readiness, subject to the approval of Parliament, to place at the disposal of the Bank of International Settlements a sum equal to its share of one year of the non-postponable annuity with the sole exception of the amounts necessary to the execution of the balances of the current contracts for payment in kind, a proceeding which, moreover, is advantageous to German economy.

For Credit Restoration.

In making this proposal the French Government expects that the other beneficiaries under the Young plan will adopt the same decisions and it even hopes that other measures may be taken to favor the beneficial restoration of credit and confidence in the world.

The sums thus turned over to the Bank for International Settlements could be utilized at once for improving credit in Germany as well as in countries of Central Europe, and especially those in which the suspension of the execution of the Young plan during one year might create financial or economic disturbance. It goes without saying that the amounts so employed would again become available at the expiration of the period of one year contemplated as the limit of the provisional suspension of the Young plan.

The French Government also believes that all necessary precautions should be taken in order that these sums as well as those to be derived from the easing of the budget of the Reich as a result of the suspension of the Young plan payments for one year may only be used for economic purposes, all danger of financing of dumping being eliminated.

Lastly, it will be advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the period of one year an examination of measures to be taken by Germany for the resumption of her payments.

Foreign Exchange of Views.

The proposals of the French Government and the adjustment, which will be suggested by the application of the American offer and which will necessarily be the subject of a subsequent exchange of views, thus appear to be perfectly compatible with the dominant idea of President Hoover's proposal.

In placing at the disposal of the Bank for International Settlements, on the conditions contemplated above, her part in the unconditional annuity, France is deprived, during the suspension period, of what had been allotted to her on account of the charges which she has to meet for the reconstruction of her devastated regions.

Without wishing to insist on the difference between the sums which she has received and the sums which she should have received, France recalls that the amount of her public debt is about four times that of the debt of the Reich, and that her effort at financial restoration carried on and accomplished by her own means barely four years ago should not be endangered.

The French Government can, therefore, affirm the solidarity of the French Republic and of the Republic of the United States at the moment when, faithful to their traditions, the two countries are co-operating in precautionary measures in a crisis which is considered grave. They have a right to hope that a response will be made to their international good will by respect for treaties and by the restoration of confidence between peoples, on which the future of peace depends.

BRIAND.

Negotiations with Germany proceeded very slowly and often appeared to be on the verge of complete collapse. The French Senate, 197 to 5, at Paris on June 30, voted emphatic approval to Premier Pierre Laval's firm stand in his negotiations with the United States on President Hoover's debt moratorium plan. The vote came after a bitter debate in which Senators talked of the United States "taking France by the throat" and Premier Laval stated the Government's position as follows, according to the Paris "Herald Tribune" Bureau at Paris:

The situation is the most delicate that we have known since the war. Reparations cannot be placed in question. The Young plan and The Hague agreements must be maintained. We cannot abandon, we will not abandon, our rights to reparations.

One hundred Radical Socialists abstained from the ballot to avoid the appearance of opposing the Government. The vote was supplementary to the 386-189 poll by which the Chamber of Deputies endorsed the Government's program on Saturday morning, June 27, and doubly tied the Premier's hands against any concessions in his negotiations to reconcile the French and American positions on Mr. Hoover's proposal to suspend for one year payments on reparations and war debts.

On June 29, Acting Secretary of State, William R. Castle, Jr., was able to announce that all governments with the exception of France had now agreed in principle to President Hoover's plan for a war debt moratorium. Mr. Castle's prepared statement regarding acceptance of the plan by all nations except France was made at the Department of State following a late afternoon conference by President Hoover with Mr. Castle and Ogden L. Mills, Acting Secretary of the Treasury. Earlier in the day Secretary Castle, in an oral statement, outlined the United States' stand and said that the United States would accept no proposals from France other than those which fell within the spirit of Mr. Hoover's plan. Mr. Castle's prepared statement as published in the "United States Daily" on June 30 was as follows:

It is our understanding that all governments have now agreed in principle to the President's plan except the French Government. Some difficulties have arisen in reconciling the French position with the spirit of the President's proposal. Discussions are still continuing between Ambassador Edge and Secretary Mellon with the French ministry.

Mr. Mills said he had talked with Secretary Mellon (who had gone to Europe to see his son graduate from Cambridge University, but who was pressed into service by Mr. Hoover along with U. S. Ambassador Edge, to conduct the negotiations on behalf of the United States when the situation became critical) by the trans-Atlantic radio-telephone. Both the Secretary and Ambassador Edge, he declared, were fully conversant with the developments in this country. On July 1 President Hoover sent a new note to the French Government criticising the latter's position, and it was not until the night of Monday, July 6, that a formula could be devised acceptable to both sides, as will be more fully related in our summary for the month of July.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS PARTICIPATE IN CREDIT TO GERMANY AND AUSTRIA

A short-term credit of $100,000,000 was extended to the Reichsbank to tide it over its June 30 requirements, according to a statement issued on June 25 by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which, with other Federal Reserve banks, is to furnish $25,000,000. The rest is to be furnished by the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Bank for International Settlements. The credit, which was agreed to by the central banks at the request of the Reichsbank, is to be in the nature of an agreement to purchase prime commercial bills from the Reichsbank. The statement issued by the New York Reserve Bank on June 25 said:

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in association with other Federal Reserve banks and with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, has agreed, if desired, to purchase from the Reichsbank up to a total of about the equivalent of $25,000,000 of prime commercial bills.

The agreement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was made in co-operation with the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Bank for International Settlements as a part of a credit arrangement with the Reichsbank aggregating in all approximately the equivalent of $100,000,000.

In an announcement issued June 1, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York indicated that it, along with the other Federal Reserve banks would participate in the credit arrangement in behalf of the Austrian National Bank. The announcement by the New York Reserve Bank was as follows:

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in association with other Federal Reserve banks, has agreed to participate with other banks of issue and with the Bank for International Settlements in a credit arrangement in favor of the Austrian National Bank. The participation of the Federal Reserve banks in the arrangement takes the form of an agreement to purchase prime commercial bills.

Neither the amount nor the length of time the credit is to run was disclosed by the Federal Reserve Bank. On May 29 cablegrams from Basle stated that the Bank for International Settlements had that afternoon announced that it and ten big central banks had agreed to stand behind the Bank of Austria and that it was confident the Austrian bank would continue to assure the stability of the schilling. It was also stated that it was understood that the banking arrangements included an agreement to absorb 100,000,000 schillings of Austrian treasury bills, the emission of which was necessitated by the Austrian Government and the National Bank of Austria having had to advance this amount to help Vienna's biggest bank, the Kreditanstalt, on which some 250 Austrian industries depended. This loan plus 50,000,000 schillings more if necessary, had been authorized the previous week at Geneva by the Austrian control committee, composed of the governments which are guarantors of the League's 1922 Austrian reconstruction loan. When the idea of floating these bonds abroad first was raised, it was stated, World Bank officials doubted that the bank could subscribe, since the statutes forbid it advancing money to governments. The way for it to help was found by having it put a foreign exchange credit at the disposal of the Bank of Austria.

Vienna advices June 18 stated that the financial situation had been eased considerably by the temporary 150,000,000 schilling ($21,090,000) loan which the National Bank of Austria received that day from London as an advance on the treasury bond issue for that amount to be floated shortly. Echoes of the financial crisis caused by the difficulties of the Kreditanstalt and the attempts to secure foreign aid were again heard in Vienna late in June. Foreign Minister Schober made a confidential statement before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Austrian Parliament, of which the substance was reported in a dispatch to the New York "Times." "Dr. Schober asserted," the dispatch remarked, "that France, when asked to lend the Austrian Government enough money to stave off the recent currency crisis, imposed conditions which would have made Austria a subservient State." He confirmed, it was added, that the conditions imposed by the French Government were, first, a demand that Austria relinquish the proposed customs union with Germany; second, that Austria ask a League of Nations inquiry into her financial condition and promise in advance to accept the advice given, and, third, that Austria obligate herself to inform France before concluding any future treaties affecting the political or economic situation in Europe. On receipt of these terms, they were shown to Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador to Vienna, it is said. "The British Minister communicated with his Government," the report stated, "which is said to have agreed that the French conditions were intolerable, and the result was the Bank of England's advance of $21,000,000."

THE BANK TROUBLES IN CHICAGO

The clearing up of local banking troubles in Chicago were an important development of the month. Fortunately, through prompt action of the larger banks and the Chicago Clearing House, the disturbances were kept strictly within local territory. A state of things had developed in the Chicago banking world not unlike that which found its culmination in this city the previous December when the Bank of United States and the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co. came to grief and general disaster was averted only by the collective action of the other banks of this city acting through the N. Y. Clearing House. The larger phase of the Chicago trouble found its disclosure on Monday morning, June 8; the aftermath came on Tuesday, June 9, and Wednesday, June 10, in the outcropping of a long list of failures of banking institutions in the outlying districts of Chicago, the most of them quite small but two or three of them of fairly large size. The announcement on Monday morning, June 8, after negotiations and conferences which had, according to press accounts, been in almost continuous progress since the previous Saturday afternoon up to 5 A. M., Monday, was to the effect that the First National Bank and the First Union Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, an affiliated institution, had become "the sole owners of the banks, buildings and other properties of the Foreman-State National Bank and the Foreman-State Trust & Savings Bank." It was also stated that the First National group had "guaranteed unequivocally all deposits of the Foreman Banks." Simultaneously there came the announcement that proposals for the merger of the Central Trust Co. of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic had been approved by the respective boards of directors of the two institutions, and now needed only ratifications by the stockholders. The Central Trust has long been known as the "Dawes" bank, and Charles G. Dawes, for many years honorary Chairman of the Board, and now United States Ambassador to Great Britain, but at the time on a visit to the United States, was prominent in the conferences leading up to the definite approval of the merger proposition.

What the situation was with which the First National Bank and the other Chicago banks had to cope, became evident from the activity of the Chicago Clearing House in the matter and its announcement of its part in the affair. The Clearing House came into the arrangement through its indorsement of the absorption of the Foreman institutions and its guaranty of $10,000,000 of Foreman deposits during readjustment of its affairs into those of the First National. The Chicago "Journal of Commerce" stated that to indemnify the First National Bank against loss in the liquidation of Foreman assets a fund of $12,550,000 in cash was set up, this fund being contributed in amount of $10,000,000 by the Chicago Clearing House banks and $2,550,000 by leading individuals in the Foreman bank group. The New York "Times," in its Chicago advices, under date of June 8, said that "The Foreman-State Bank and the Central Trust-Republic merger were the outcome of one of the most hectic series of conferences ever held by banking officials in Chicago." But besides the aid extended to the Foreman-State institutions, assistance was also extended to many of the outlying banks where a very acute situation arose. Over 20 of these outlying banks went to the wall, 12 of these belonging to the chain of banks known as the John Bain group, and the others being mostly identified with the Foreman-State banks, but which were so seriously embarrassed that they were beyond hope of saving, and, accordingly, were left to their fate. As it happened, however, owing to the failure of all these institutions serious runs were experienced by other of the outlying banks, but these, being solvent, received every assistance needed to tide them over the emergency. Six outlying small banks, allied with Foreman, closed voluntarily on June 8 pending adjustment of their status resulting from the taking over of the Foreman banks by the First National. The largest of these six outlying banks was the Sheridan Trust & Savings Bank, concerning which the directors announced that "with deposit liabilities of $5,200,000" they had requested the Illinois Auditor of Public Accounts to take charge pending reorganization. The twelve outlying banks under the sponsorship of John Bain, South Park Commissioner, with deposits of approximately $16,000,000, closed their doors on June 9 as a result of runs on those institutions. Then on June 10 six more outlying banks with combined deposits of nearly $20,000,000 either did not open or were closed during the day when they encountered unusually heavy withdrawals. Two of these were affiliated with the Foreman-State banks and were "orphaned" when the Foreman institutions were taken over by the First National Bank group. Subsequently one or two more small banks succumbed. But where the condition of banks which encountered runs warranted the step, the Chicago banks came to the rescue without hesitation. For instance, Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National-First Union Trust group, offered full guarantee to the depositors of the Chicago City Bank & Trust Co., a $17,000,000 institution, which experienced a run. "We have promised to loan the bank enough money to pay every one of its depositors tomorrow, if they insist," Mr. Traylor was quoted as saying. It was also stated in Chicago advices on June 10 that the First National and the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co. had guaranteed unlimited loans to the $10,000,000 Pioneer Trust & Savings Bank. Arthur Reynolds, Chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., also gave assurance of support to all banks involved in suffering heavy withdrawals without cause. "We are supporting the outlying institutions to the fullest extent consistent with sound banking, and we will continue to do so," he said. "We have sent out millions of dollars in the last few days and stand ready to send out additional millions should they be needed. It is a curious thing that some of the strongest neighborhood banks in Chicago have been subjected to heavy withdrawals, but conditions today appear to be improving and there are signs that uneasiness is lessening."

RAILROADS PETITION FOR AN ADVANCE IN RATES

Confronted with an emergency threatening serious impairment of their financial resources and "their capacity to assure the public a continuance of efficient and adequate service," the railroads of the United States unanimously petitioned the Inter-State Commerce Commission on June 17 for a 15% increase in all freight rates and charges. Even with such increased revenues, it was estimated, the carriers would earn less than 4% in 1931 on the value of their property, a return "much below the return prescribed by law." The petition was signed by J. J. Pelley, Chairman of the Special Committee of Presidents representing the Eastern Group; H. A. Scandrett, Chairman, Special Committee of Presidents, representing the Western and Mountain-Pacific Groups, and W. R. Cole, Chairman of the Southern Group. Despite efficient and economical management, the brief emphasized, earnings of the Class I carriers since 1921 were about $2,575,000,000 below the fair return of 5¾% prescribed by law. The railroads were now being forced to operate under drastic economies, resulting in deferred maintenance in their properties "which must some time be made up," said the petition, adding: "Steam railway transportation has not become a moribund enterprise. It is essential to the economic welfare of the country and indispensable to the national defense. All that is necessary to the maintenance of an adequate national system of transportation is that the country should be willing to pay a reasonable price for it and that railway investors and railway managements should be able to act on that assurance."

GRAIN MARKETS STIMULATED BY PRESIDENT HOOVER'S GERMAN MORATORIUM PROPOSAL—ALSO BY DROUTH CONDITIONS IN THE SPRING WHEAT SECTIONS OF THE NORTHWEST AND IN CANADA.

The grain markets were weak the early part of the month, mainly as a result of the favorable outlook for the winter wheat crop, but in common with so many other markets enjoyed a sharp recovery the last 10 days of the month in response to the German moratorium proposal of President Hoover, aided the last few days of the month by news of the occurrence of another wave of extremely high temperatures in the spring wheat territory of the United States and a repetition or continuance of drouth conditions which previously had been playing havoc with the spring wheat crop in that part of the country and doing great damage also to the spring wheat crop in the Western Provinces of Canada. Everything indicated that the 1931 winter wheat crop of the United States would rank among the largest on record and that circumstance served as the controlling consideration in the course of values up to about the end of the third week of June. The Agricultural Bureau at Washington made public on June 9 its forecasts and estimates of the grain crops of the United States, and they reflected a highly favorable outlook for winter wheat, even though crop prospects generally were said to be below the average. A winter wheat crop of 649,115,000 bushels was indicated by the condition on June 1. This was not quite so good as the indications a month earlier, which had pointed to a crop of 652,902,000 bushels. However, in 1930 the winter wheat crop harvested was only 604,337,000 bushels, while the five-year average of the crops from 1925 to 1929 was no more than 547,427,000 bushels, thus showing for 1931 an increase of, roughly, 45,000,000 bushels over the large crop of the previous year and 100,000,000 bushels in excess of the average in the five years preceding. The condition of winter wheat as a whole, June 1 1931, was 84.3% of normal, compared with 71.7% on June 1 1930 and a June 1 10-year average 1920-1929 of 75.7%.

The outlook for the spring wheat crop of the Northwest, however, was just the reverse of that for winter wheat; the condition of spring wheat June 1 was put at only 67.9% of normal, or the lowest ever reported on June 1; the previous low record was 78.5% in 1926. Condition on the same date in 1930 was 85.7%, and the 10-year average (1920-1929) was 86.2%. The lowest condition reports came from the important spring wheat areas of the Dakotas, Montana and the Pacific Northwest, where developing of the crop, according to the Agricultural Bureau, had been seriously retarded by lack of moisture. All this seemed to foreshadow a big falling off in the spring wheat yield in the United States, especially as it appeared certain that some reduction would also be shown in the area planted to spring wheat. For the time being, however, the poor outlook for spring wheat attracted very little attention. The public and speculators alike were mostly concerned with the fact that the Federal Farm Board was carrying some 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, and that sooner or later a market would have to be found for these large accumulations. However, the grain markets, and wheat with them, responded quickly to the energizing influence of President Hoover's debt suspension proposal, and beginning with June 20, the day on which definite knowledge came from Mr. Hoover himself that consideration was being given to plans for the relief of Germany, the market took a sharp turn upward. But towards the very close of the month somewhat of a lagging tendency developed, and then came news that dry, hot weather was prevailing over the whole of the spring wheat area of the United States and that the Canadian grain growing areas were suffering in the same way. On June 29 reports came that in many spots over the drouth-stricken area of Saskatchewan temperatures ran as high as 105 degrees, while temperatures in the corn belt of Illinois and Iowa, running as high as 100 degrees and above, were reported. It remains to say that telegraphic summaries to the Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, under date of June 23, stated that the grain crops of the Prairie Provinces were showing the extreme regional variations which had marked the seasons of 1930 and 1929. For the second successive week crop prospects in Manitoba and Saskatchewan had declined further, though Alberta crops had improved. While rains in West Central Alberta were sufficient to cause floods, only scattered showers had fallen on Manitoba and Central and Southern Saskatchewan, and the intense heat and damaging winds had completely dimmed the hope of an average crop. With further unfavorable news of the same character on June 29 prices once more moved upward.

July wheat in Chicago dropped from 59⅝c. June 1 to 55⅜c. June 19, which was the low figure of the month, then rallied to 59½c. July 22, reacted to 56⅞c. June 26, then recovered to 59⅝c. June 29 and closed June 30 at 57¾c. The September option for wheat in Chicago, after falling from 59c. June 1 to 56¼c. June 3, touched 60½c. June 5, then reached a low of 55⅝c. June 19, recovered to 60½c. June 22, reacted to 58c. June 26, advanced to 61¼c. June 29, and closed June 30 at 59¾c. The Canadian markets moved up more sharply than our own markets, presumably because in more intimate touch with the unfavorable crop situation in the Canadian provinces. Thus the July option at Winnipeg advanced from 59c. June 1 to 63½c. June 6, and after moving up and down irregularly touched a low of 59c. on June 19; from this there was a rise to 63½c. June 22, concurrently with the rise in the American markets on the news of the proposal regarding Germany, but with a downward reaction to 61c. on June 26, followed by a spurt to 64c. June 29 on bad crop news, with the close June 30 at 61⅞c. Corn and oats prices, not having to contend with large holdovers from previous crops, moved up with much greater rapidity than did wheat when the upward movement got under way the latter part of the month as a result of Mr. Hoover's debt suspension proposal. July corn at Chicago fluctuated between 55⅜c. and 58⅛c. the first 19 days of the month, then came a sharp advance from 55¾c. June 19 to 63⅛c. June 29, with the close June 30 at 61½c. Similarly, July oats at Chicago, after ranging between 25c. and 26⅝c. up to June 19, suddenly moved up from 25¼c. June 19 to 31⅜c. June 29, with the close June 30 at 30⅝c.

The attitude of the Federal Farm Board with reference to its large holdings of wheat appeared somewhat in doubt the latter part of the month. As narrated in our summary for the month of May, Federally financed purchases of wheat incident to the Government's stabilizing activities for farm relief came to an end on Friday, May 29, in accordance with previous announcement, on the closing of that day's operations on the Chicago Board of Trade (May 30 having been Memorial Day and a holiday, and May 31 having been Sunday). Nevertheless, prices for the June option continued to rule 10 to 15c. a bushel higher than the prices for the July and later options, indicating that the Grain Stabilization Corp. was maintaining some degree of control over that option. Chairman James C. Stone, of the Federal Farm Board, was quoted early in the month as having stated orally that he was under the impression that an effort would be made to maintain the stabilized price of wheat until the old crop season ended on July 1, but he was uncertain as to the likelihood of purchases during June. Mr. Stone expressed the view that there was not a great quantity of old wheat still to be marketed (the Grain Stabilization Corp. presumably holding nearly the whole of the leftover) and that any wheat which came into the market besides that held by the Corporation probably would sell at quotations somewhere near the Corporation's price. In Washington accounts, June 4, to the New York "Times," Mr. Stone was quoted as saying that although he had previously announced the Board's intention of "pegging" prices through June by purchases of cash wheat from the old crop, it had been made clear that such action would continue only so long as the new crop was not a factor in the market. That factor, however, had developed the day before, he pointed out, with receipts of sizable big shipments from the Panhandle district of Texas. Still, as the June option continued to sell well above the other options up to the very close of the month, it was plain that the Grain Stabilization Corp. continued to exercise some control over this option. As a matter of fact, belated shorts ran the price of June wheat up 8c. to 77c. on June 30, while the close of the July option on the same day was 57¾c.

On June 15 Chairman Stone stated orally, according to the "United States Daily," that the Grain Stabilization Corp. would continue to sell wheat abroad after the 35,000,000 bushels which it had previously announced would be offered for sale was gone, but the sales would be made in such a manner as to affect world market situation as little as possible. On June 17 Associated Press advices from Washington stated that a definite pledge that stabilization wheat would be withheld from domestic markets was to be avoided by the Farm Board. The Board intended to stand on its policy announced March 23. At that time it stated that it was too early now to set forth in detail what the sales policy of the Grain Stabilization Corp. would be in the new crop year, except to say that stabilization supplies of wheat would be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices. It became clear, however, as the close of the month approached that in deference to the wishes of President Hoover the Board would modify its policy, at least in part. Confirmation of this belief appeared when the Farm Board on the night of June 30 issued a statement defining its policy relative to stabilization of wheat holdings, and announced that it would limit itself to sales of 5,000,000 bushels per month during the next year, exclusive of pending contracts for export wheat. This declaration, approved by President Hoover, was issued in compliance with his request of Saturday, said the New York "Times," for a definite statement on the 1930 wheat owned by the Stabilization Corp., estimated in excess of 200,000,000 bushels. While declining to withhold the entire supply from competition with the 1931 wheat crop, as demanded by the wheat farmers of the Southwest and the Senators representing these States, the Board compromised by its decision to sell not more than 60,000,000 bushels of the surplus wheat in the next year, exclusive of the export contracts that may amount, the "Times" correspondent stated, to about 50,000,000. The Board experienced great difficulty in reaching a final agreement, it averred. A brief statement of policy was agreed upon at a morning session and submitted to President Hoover, who suggested some amplification and slight changes in phraseology. Chairman Stone carried the tentative draft, the "Times" says, to the President, and after two hours' conference at the White House returned with the President's suggestion, which the Board finally adopted after a three-hour session. The final draft was issued at 8:30 p. m., although the Board's first statement had been adopted at the noon meeting. Chairman Stone said that the statement was a clear presentation of the Board's position assumed on March 23, and did not represent a surrender to either the President or the farm associations. "We have not modified our program and have not surrendered," Chairman Stone said. "We have amplified our position as conditions of the market warranted." The Board reversed its program radically, however, the "Times" statement declares, in that its original policy was for unlimited sale of wheat at home and abroad, while the Board's action limits sales during the next year of 1930 holdings to 60,000,000 bushels.

On June 12 Samuel R. McKelvie notified President Hoover of his intention to resign as a wheat member of the Farm Board on the expiration of his term on June 15. In his letter notifying the President of his resignation Mr. McKelvie expressed the opinion that the Agricultural Marketing Act would do all that was claimed for it by its advocates, and under its operation "vast benefits" had already been secured by the farmers and by business in general. Developments of national sales agencies had given to the farmer control over his crops which is "essential to better prices and larger returns to growers," Mr. McKelvie said. It was pointed out in the daily press that Mr. McKelvie is the third of the original seven appointees to the Board to resign this year. Former Chairman Alexander Legge left earlier in 1931 to return to his position as President of the International Harvester Co., and C. C. Teague left recently to take up his former position as head of a large co-operative citrus fruit organization. The place of former Chairman Legge has been filled on the Board by the appointment of Sam Thompson, former President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, while no successor for Mr. Teague's position has been announced by the Administration. It should also be stated that on May 29 President Hoover reappointed William F. Schilling as a member of the Federal Farm Board. The reappointment was for a term of six years from June 15, when Mr. Schilling's old term expired.

SUGAR PRICES ARE HIGHER—ALSO COFFEE.

It became evident as the month advanced that sugar prices were moving higher, at least for the time being, as a result of the carrying out of the Chadbourne plan for the stabilization of the commodity. The price of Cuban raw sugar as against 1.25c. at the end of May kept steadily rising throughout June, except for a single day, when it was 1.24c. June 4; on June 5 sales were made at 1.27c.; on June 9, June 10, June 12 and June 16 all sales were at 1.30c.; on June 17 sales were at 1.33c. and 1.34c.; on June 18 and June 19 at 1.35c.; on June 23 at 1.36c.; on June 24 at 1.39c. and 1.40c.; on June 25, 1.40 and 1.42c., and again 1.42c. on June 30. Francis Powell, President of the International Sugar Council, arrived at The Hague on May 22 to establish headquarters for the carrying out of the Chadbourne sugar control system, according to advices to the New York "Times." He was reported as stating that the project had already stabilized prices. Coffee prices also further improved, but only slightly, presumably on the continued destruction of surplus stocks of coffee. In the New York market No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 6⅞@7c. June 30 as against 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c April 30; 5½c March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31; 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No 7 Santos was 8½@9c. June 30 against 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same on April 30; 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11@11¼c. Oct. 31 1930.

THE STATE OF GENERAL TRADE—THE CONDITION OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY.

The state of general trade left very much to be desired, as virtually no indications of improvement were discernible anywhere, while the iron and steel trade continued in the very depth of depression, with the steel mills of the country further reducing their output week after week until they were engaged to only 35% of capacity as against 42% at the opening of the month and 57% the peak figure of the year in March. The "Iron Age," moreover, in its issue of June 25, said that "additional recessions seem inevitable unless sentiment, which now appears to be veering, actually undergoes a marked change." At the same time, the price situation remained very unsatisfactory, though hopes of an improvement were being built, strange as it may seem, upon the probability that the petition of the railroads for higher rates would raise the cost of iron and steel shipments, and that a coal strike in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia might have the same effect, by reason of the higher price that may have to be paid for the coal. The "Iron Age" said that "the plea of the carriers for higher rates, although not unopposed, has been sympathetically received by an unusually large proportion of the industrial shippers, suggesting part, if not all, of the 15% advance asked for will be granted. An increase of 10%, it is estimated, would raise steel-making costs $1 a ton, an increment which would doubtless stiffen mill prices and sharply stimulate shipments prior to the effective date of the new rates." In the market for scrap steel price conditions were extremely unsatisfactory. The "Iron Age" said that during the previous week heavy melting steel had declined 25c. a ton at Pittsburgh and Detroit, and $1 a ton at Philadelphia. The "Age" added: "The purchase of sizable tonnage of heavy melting grade at Pittsburgh at $10 delivered, brought the market in that district to as low a level as has been reached in the present century, that price having been touched only once before, in December 1914."

In its issue of July 2, bringing market conditions down to the close of the half year, the "Iron Age" had the following to say:

"The reversal of business sentiment, following the announcement of President Hoover's moratorium plan, has not had a widespread effect upon the orders of the rank and file of steel buyers, but it has brought renewed life to a number of large projects that have been dormant for months.

"Notwithstanding the possibility of further favorable developments, the steel industry can scarcely escape at least another month of very low operations. The average rate this week for the entire country is not above 35% of capacity, without considering the loss of output incident to the shutdowns over the coming holiday. In only one district, Cleveland, has steel production gained. Elsewhere, it has lost further ground or is barely holding its own.

"Some of the smaller steel plants will be closed for periods of one or two weeks, or perhaps longer, during July, and a few of the larger interests are concentrating work at their efficient plants in cost-saving efforts. One of the medium-sized companies is staggering its activities by one week of work followed by a week of idleness.

"Many industrial consumers of steel have announced July shutdowns of two weeks, giving their employees a vacation en masse. Nearly all of the automobile plants will suspend activities for two weeks for vacations and inventories between July 15 and August 15. June output of motor cars is not expected to be above 270,000 units, against 315,115 in May, and a further decline is indicated for July. Steel orders from the automobile industry continue to decline.

"All three of the 'Iron Age' composite prices have changed this week, pig iron declining, while scrap and finished steel have advanced. At $15.59, pig iron is down to the lowest since November 1915, after holding at $15.63 for five weeks. Finished steel advanced, on the revised sheet prices, from 2.102c. a pound to 2.137c. Steel scrap, higher at Pittsburgh, goes from $9.08 to $9.17, the first advance since February."

Brave efforts were made to bring about a higher level of values for the second quarter of the year. As to how far these efforts will be crowned with success remains to be seen, though with production on so low a scale as at present the higher prices are scarcely calculated to count for much in any event. It was announced on Monday, June 15, that the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corp., and the Inland Steel Co., a large independent, would post an increase of $2 a ton on galvanized sheets and of $3 a ton on black sheets for third-quarter business. Prices of blue annealed sheets and automobile sheets were not advanced, but the upturn in galvanized and black sheets was regarded as a forerunner of further efforts to establish higher prices. The rise in galvanized and black sheets was made in accordance with the new classification accepted by leading steel makers. On the new basis, No. 24 black sheets will be 2½c. a pound against 2.35c. formerly, and No. 24 galvanized sheets will be 3c. a pound against 2.9c. formerly. There is also a small charge for delivery in the Chicago district. While certain producers were announcing higher prices on sheets, iron and steel warehouses in the Chicago district, said the New York "Times" of June 16, reduced prices $3 a ton on steel bars, blue annealed sheets, bands and hoops, and $5 a ton on cold finished bars and galvanized sheets. Reductions of $10 a ton were made also on cold rolled strips, hot rolled strips and finished sheets. The last named items, it was said, account for only a small part of the business of jobbers. The move to establish higher prices on steel sheets for the third quarter was joined on June 17 by the Bethlehem Steel Corp., which announced that it had made advances of $1 to $5 a ton on various types of sheet steel. It was explained that there had been a change in the system of making extras, which would result in higher prices for the products. Iron and steel companies in the Youngstown district would follow the lead of the Inland Steel Co. of Chicago, in advancing prices of steel sheets for third-quarter shipment, it was announced on June 15.

Mahoning Valley steel companies, according to the "Wall Street Journal" of June 16, were continuing their efforts to reduce mill operating expenses to a minimum in the face of a business outlook which indicated that little improvement in steel buying was likely until late fall. While basic wage scales apparently were being maintained, labor costs were being reduced in other ways, it was stated. One large steel fabricator, after reducing its personnel, abolished the usual two-week vacation for salaried employees. A large number of the clerical forces of Carnegie Steel Co., United States Steel Corp. subsidiary, had been ordered to take vacations on a three-day a week basis instead of a continuous vacation period. In some cases, retirement of employees occurred in the higher-salaried classes, which also were cut in income.

THE NON-FERROUS METALS RESPOND TO THE QUICKENING INFLUENCE ON TRADE EXERTED BY THE MOVE TO RELIEVE GERMANY.

The non-ferrous metals followed a course distinct from that of the steel trade and made prompt response to the quickening influence on trade in general exerted by President Hoover's move for extending relief to Germany in the period of her grave crisis. In the case of copper, in particular, the presence of this stimulating agency was manifested. Before the official pronouncement on the moratorium came from Mr. Hoover on June 20 the copper trade had been in a state of complete demoralization, with sales of copper at as low as 7¾c. a pound delivered at the factories in Connecticut. A few days thereafter the price was up 8¾c. as a result of a large and urgent demand for the metal, both on domestic account and for export. By the end of the month the price was up to 9c., though later the price reacted to 8¾c., and finally to 8½c. In the New York market Lake copper declined from 8⅞c. June 1 to 8⅛c. June 18, then rose to 8⅜c. June 23, to 8⅝c. June 24, to 8⅞c. June 25 and to 9¼c. June 29. Electrolytic copper was reduced from 8¼c. June 2 to 8c. June 4, to 7¾c. June 12, and then recovered to 8c. June 23, to 8¼c. June 24, to 8½c. June 25 and to 8¾c. June 29.

Lead prices also advanced, the price here in New York being marked up from 3.75c. May 30 to 4.00c. June 22, to 4.15c. June 23, to 4¼c. June 24 and to 4.40c. June 25.

The price of tin at New York moved up from 22.35c. June 3 to 26.75 June 27 and was 25.20c. June 30. An enormous demand for copper and lead, with prices of the major non-ferrous metals advancing on an average of 10% in four days, were among the spectacular developments accompanying the violent upward reactions in commodities the world over, "Metal and Mineral Markets" reported in its issue of June 25, adding that altogether upwards of 53,000 tons of copper had been reported sold in the previous week in the domestic markets and almost 28,000 tons in the foreign market, the biggest week's business since last November and one of the largest on record. Inquiry for copper, it was stated, had been general, all classes of buyers being willing to take a chance on what promised to be an advancing market. The largest bookings, however, it was stated, very naturally had been by subsidiaries of the large producers. Later, however, the demand fell off, and the price again reacted, as already noted. As indicating to what a state the copper and other narkets had been brought as a result of the steady shrinkage n the demand and the decline in the prices of the different ıon-ferrous metals, the American Smelting & Refining Co. :ave notice about the middle of the month that it would close ts lead smelters at Murray, Utah, and East Helena, Montana, n July, August and September. The company's statement ead:

The low price of lead has greatly curtailed mine production and correspondingly affected the tonnage coming in to the smelters of the American Smelting & Refining Co.

Operations necessarily must be curtailed at some time. The company herefore has decided to close down during the summer months of July, August and September its lead smelters at Murray, Utah, and East Helena, Montana. It will carry on the business of purchasing and receiving such ores as mines may ship during the shutdown.

This shutdown will enable its labor to seek employment elsewhere during the summer months, and to return at the beginning of October, at which time smelters will resume operations on a larger scale, and afford steadier employment than would otherwise be possible.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS.

The effect of overproduction in East Texas resulted at the beginning of June in another great slash in prices of Mid-Continent and Pennsylvania crude oil. The new schedules brought Mid-Continent crudes to the same levels prevailing in East Texas, namely, 25c. per barrel for less than 29 degrees gravity, with a 1c. advance for each degree up to 37c. per barrel for 40 degrees and above, but on June 19 the Standard Oil Co. of California advanced prices, effective immediately, of California crude 20c. to 40c. per barrel, according to degree, and on June 24 the Sinclair Oil Co. announced adoption of 20c. per barrel flat price basis for East Texas crude regardless of gravity. Two days previously, on June 22, the Magnolia Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, announced adoption of the flat price basis for Mid-Continent crude, effective June 20. At the close of the month indications were strong of an upward vision of crude prices throughout the entire country, including East Texas.

A voluntary attempt by operators to stem the flow of oil from the East Texas field, which had undermined the foundations of the petroleum price structure in the United States for so long was scheduled to go into effect on June 20, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Tyler, Tex., June 17. These advices further say:

"Under a unitization plan subscribed to at a mass meeting of operators here, each well producing before June 10, irrespective of acreage involved, would be permitted to yield 300 barrels daily and all wells brought in subsequent to that date would be limited to 300 barrels daily for each unit of 20 acres.

"Under the plan, production in the field is expected to be cut by 200,000 to 220,000 barrels daily at the start. Latest figures available show average daily production about 330,000 barrels, more than twice the 160,000 barrels limit fixed by order of the Railroad Commission.

"Should all operators join in the movement, J. F. Lucey, of Dallas, Chairman of the arbitration committee set up to administer the unit plan, said he was confident the State, through the Railroad Commission, would take hold of the project and add its influence through a formal order placing the plan in effect in lieu of the violated proration instructions now prevailing.

"A group of operators, headed by W. L. Todd, of Dallas, contended the unitization plan was not practicable and legal and asserted it would not work. The Todd faction continued an effort to influence Governor Sterling to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the situation."

The first victory for independent oil companies attacking oil proration in Oklahoma was won in the Federal District Court at Guthrie on Saturday, June 13, said a dispatch from Oklahoma City to the "Wall Street Journal" of June 16, when three Federal Judges granted a temporary injunction to Champlin Refining Co., ordering the Attorney-General and State District Courts to refrain from penalizing the company on charges of overproducing four wells in Oklahoma City field. State agencies were restrained from enforcing the penalties until further order of the Federal Court or until validity of the Oklahoma oil conservation laws is determined by the United States Supreme Court on an appeal taken recently by the Champlin company.

THE TEXTILE TRADES.

The textile trades the latter part of the month received a decided stimulus from the improvement of sentiment following President Hoover's move for the relief of Germany. This was particularly true in the cotton goods trade, where a sharp advance in the price of raw cotton acted in turn still further to increase the demand for goods. Business booked in the week succeeding the President's announcement on June 20 was at the highest level of activity since the previous March and was also on a gradually advancing scale of prices. While buyers for the most part continued to look for the bargains which were so frequently available in the past, they found considerably more resistance to their demand for price concessions, and print cloths, in particular, were taken by them in large quantities, mostly for spot and nearby requirements at from ⅛c. to ½c. higher figures. The advance in the price of raw cotton was very noteworthy. During the first half of the month the cotton market was still very much depressed, and on June 9 spot cotton here at New York was down to 8.25c., which compares with 8.55c. on June 1 and 8.75c. May 29, the closing business day of the previous month. From the low figure mentioned there was an advance to 10.40c. on June 27, with the close June 30 at 9.85c. Print cloths for 28-inch 64x60 were marked down June 6 from 3⅝c. to 3½c., and marked up again to 3⅝c. on June 25, and to 3¾c. June 29. The statistics regarding cotton goods at the beginning of the month were not very encouraging. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants at New York made public the figures for the month of May on June 15, and they showed that production during May had amounted to 225,392,000 yards, or at the rate of 56,348,000 yards a week, which was slightly lower than the April rate of production. Nevertheless, shipments during May were only 205,603,000 yards, equivalent to 91.2% of production. New business booked during the month amounted to only 160,029,000 yards, or but 71% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 301,943,000 yards, representing an increase of 7% during the month. Unfilled orders on May 31 were 248,544,000 yards, showing a decrease of 15.5% during the month. In explanation it was said that it is normal for unfilled orders to decrease and stocks to increase at this time of the year. The United States Census, in its statement issued June 13, reported cotton consumed in the United States during May at 465,770 bales of lint and 66,949 bales of linters against 473,284 bales of lint and 67,201 bales of linters in May 1930.

The improvement which took place in woolens and worsteds as a whole the latter part of the month was indicated by the fact that although the aggregate operating rate of the industry as a whole continued to gain, with 60% quoted as the current figure, nevertheless very few were producing goods except on actual orders. In the early part of the month, that is, on June 1, soft-surface rug and carpet lines were opened for the fall season at unchanged prices in the New York market, but hard surface floor coverings producers surprised the trade by joining in the opening and advancing the popular light weight felt base and linoleum products from 5% to 10%. The attendance of buyers was estimated at 50 to 70% of normal. The New York "Times" said that buyers found no fault with the soft surface price situation and expressed the belief that the firmer tone would be reflected this season in more profitable retail activity. The Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., and other mills which joined in the opening agreed to give buyers a 60-day stock protection clause in sales contracts, thus affording protection against any price reductions which might be made by the Mohawk Carpet Mills, Inc., or W. & J. Sloane, sales agents for other mills whose openings are scheduled for Aug. 3.

In the silk trade some improvement in the prices of raw silk was the feature. A large yardage of silks was moved. Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $2.35@$2.40 June 30 against $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29; $2.35@$2.40 April 30; $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930; $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30, and $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.40@$2.50 June 30 against $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29; $2.25@$2.30 April 30; $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930; $2.25@$2.30 Oct. 31 1930, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. Crude rubber prices also felt the stimulating influence which sent so many other markets upward the latter part of the month. Rib smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted at 6 13-16 bid and 6 15-16 asked June 30 as against 6½c. bid May 29; 5⅞c. bid and 6c. asked on April 30; 6⅞c. bid and 7c. asked on March 31; 7⅝@7¾c. on Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. on Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. on Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. on Feb. 28 1930. According to Associated Press advices from Dayton, June 24, John A. MacMillan, President of the Dayton Rubber Co., said on that day that the company planned to increase prices on all types of tires in the near future. The advance would range, it was stated, between 3 and 20% on all sizes and types of tires. On the other hand, Akron advices to the "Wall Street Journal," under date of June 25, stated that the officials of the various major rubber companies were not particularly impressed with possibility of an increase in tire prices within the near future. While some of the smaller companies were fairly enthusiastic about taking such a step, it seemed illogical to believe that much could be done without the leadership of the bulk of the industry.

CIGARETTE PRICES ADVANCED BY TOBACCO COMPANIES.

The wholesale price of popular brands of cigarettes was increased 45 cents a thousand on Wednesday, June 24, to $6.85 by the four leading cigarette manufacturing companies in the United States—American Tobacco Co., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. and P. Lorillard Co. The increase which was the second in the last two years, caught Wall Street by surprise, news accounts said, and tobacco shares showed overnight gains at the opening of the stock market from 4½ to 11 points. The cigarettes affected by the increase are Lucky Strike, Camel, Chesterfield, Old Gild and Piedmont. It was estimated in Wall Street that the higher price would mean $45,000,000 additional income to the four cigarette manufacturing companies. This was computed on the basis of their production of 114,000,000,000 cigarettes last year. The initial step in the advance was taken by the R. J. Reynolds Co., which notified its jobbing customers of the higher price, effective early in the morning on June 24, before the stock market opened. The other manufacturers did not meet the increase until later in the day, but their action was anticipated by Wall Street, and there was heavy buying of all tobacco stocks at the opening of the market. Following the announcement of the higher wholesale price, officials of the United Cigar Stores and the Schulte Retail Stores held separate conferences on the question of raising the retail price also. This was done in July.

THE JUNE FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

June constitutes one of the months in which the United States Government ordinarily does its quarterly period of financing. The present year this consisted of the floating of a new issue of long-term Treasury bonds, notice of which was given on the last day of May, as related in our narrative of the Treasury financing for the latter month. Besides which the United States Government at the very close of June disposed of two new series of Treasury bills bearing no interest but sold on a discount basis for an aggregate of $100,000,000. The Treasury Department had given notice on May 26 of a forthcoming offering of United States Government obligations of some kind without conveying any intimation as to the kind of obligation that was contemplated, but promptly on June 1, or rather on Sunday night, May 31, full particulars were given regarding the new issue. The new financing took the form of an offering of $800,000,000, "or thereabouts," of Treasury bonds of 1946-1949, dated and bearing 3⅛% interest from June 15 1931, and maturing June 15 1949 but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after June 15 1946, in whole or in part, at par and accrued interest, on any interest day or days on four months' notice. The bonds were exempt from the normal income taxes, but not from the surtaxes. Subscription books closed June 3, and the offering proved a flattering success, as it was reasonable to expect it would in view of the ease of the money market and the superabundance of idle funds. Total subscriptions ran well in excess of $6,000,000,000, the exact aggregate being $6,315,524,500. Of this amount $572,106,500 represented exchange subscriptions in payment for which Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing June 15 were tendered in accordance with the terms of the formal offering of the new bonds, which provided that such subscriptions would be given preferred allotment but only to an aggregate of $325,000,000. In the allotments of the new bonds to subscribers, actually $326,110,000 of exchange subscriptions received awards of the new bonds. The allotments out of the $6,315,524,500 of subscriptions for the new bonds amounted altogether to $821,116,000, of which $495,006,000 were on cash subscriptions and $326,110,000 on exchange subscriptions. Earlier in 1931, that is, in March, the Treasury put out an issue of $500,000,000 of Treasury bonds of 1941-1943 carrying 3⅜% interest, and the total subscriptions then reached $2,111,871,300.

It was intimated by the Treasury Department on June 1, in offering the $800,000,000 of new long-term bonds, that a further Government bond issue was likely to be placed on the market later in the year, and this became a certainty when on June 7 Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury, gave six months' notice, as required, that all of the 3½% Treasury notes of series C-1930-1932 still outstanding would be called for redemption on Dec. 15 1931, a year in advance of their maturity. It was estimated that $451,719,450 of these 3½% notes now called for redemption was still outstanding. This certainly showed unbounded confidence in the Government's ability to finance all its needs during coming months, at a time of falling revenues and in face of the numerous demands he has been obliged to make upon the money and investment markets in recent previous months. In calling these notes for redemption a year in advance of their maturity the Secretary was, of course, actuated by a desire to effect a saving in interest, this being based on the idea that he could float a new issue of securities at a lower rate of interest, and the success attending the sale of the new issue of $800,000,000 of Treasury bonds, bearing only 3⅛% interest, certainly justified the expectation. Doubtless the $6,315,524,500 of subscriptions received for these new bonds exaggerated the amount of bonds really wanted, since many subscribers, especially banks, feeling certain that the offering would be over-subscribed and that the allotments accordingly would have to be pared down, increased the amount of their subscriptions so that in the allotment they would come nearer, as they hoped, to the amounts actually desired by them. Allowing for this, however, there is no reason to doubt that the demand for United States obligations of all kinds will remain so avid that any reasonable amount of obligations that the Government might want to put out will find ready takers and at very low rates of interest, too.

As already stated, the new bonds were not exempt from the surtaxes, but only from the ordinary normal taxes, Congress having refused the request of Secretary Mellon that all future issues of Government obligations be made exempt from the surtaxes as well as the ordinary normal income taxes, and the success attending the sale in this instance was clear proof that no adventitious aid of that kind is necessary for the floating of United States obligations. Candor, however, compels the statement that the Secretary did extend some valuable special privileges and did try in every way to add to the attractiveness of the offering. One of these distinct advantages was the further reduction made in the rate of interest which the depositary banks are obliged to pay on Government deposits growing out of the proceeds of the sale. In preparation for the new offering he reduced the rate of interest which the depositary banks must pay on such deposits from 1% to ½ of 1%. The Secretary also gave notice that he would follow the same ıctice in the case of this issue of bonds that he had so g been pursuing in the case of sales of certificates of lebtedness, namely, to let the proceeds remain on deposit th the depositary banks through whom or for whom the oscriptions are made. These Government deposits, as so quently pointed out in these columns, are desirable for o distinct reasons. In the first place, the banks are not uired to carry any reserves against the same, differing that respect from the ordinary commercial deposits, which require the keeping of reserves, and if the depositary nks undertake to loan them out they stand to make the fference between the ½% they have to pay the Govern- ent and the rate they are able to obtain for the loans. owever, this is an advantage only to the banks themselves, id with total subscriptions aggregating in excess of ,000,000,000, the advantages named could not have been uch of a consideration with the greater portion of the ibscribers. In the last analysis it was the plethora of anable funds that was responsible for the superb success the offering.

Payment for the $821,116,000 of new Treasury bonds lotted did not have to be made until Monday, June 15, ie date from which the bonds begin to bear interest, and ie effect of the sale of this large amount of bonds was to id very greatly to the volume of Government deposits held the credit of the United States by the depositary banks roughout the country for the reason and in the way already ated. The matter is of importance because against such overnment deposits, as just stated, the depositary institu- ons are not required to hold any reserves. The effect, nerefore, in this case, as in so many other previous cases, as been to convert a large amount of ordinary commercial eposits, against which the banks are obliged to carry the ustomary reserves, into Government deposits requiring no eserves at all, with the ultimate result, of course, of further ccentuating the ease in the money market because of the etting free of a corresponding amount of reserve. On that ccount it is desirable to know the precise amount of Govern- ent deposits created through the sale of the $821,116,000 f new Treasury bonds. The statement for June 17 of the eporting member banks which are obliged to file weekly eturns with the Federal Reserve Board at Washington howed an increase in Government deposits for the week n amount of $301,000,000, the total of such Government leposits having risen from $9,000,000 on June 10 to $310,- 00,000 on June 17, but these reporting member banks are ar from comprising all the depositary institutions holding Government deposits. Actually the Government deposits rising from the $821,116,000 sale of Treasury bonds totaled o less than $401,006,000. The $9,000,000 of Government leposits shown by the reporting member banks in their statement for June 10 represented merely the uncalled re- mainder of the Government deposits which arose from the sale of the $275,118,000 of certificates of indebtedness in April. The Government deposits growing out of that sale reached $258,633,000; $12,146,000 of such deposits still re- mained at the end of May, only $9,000,000 of which appar- ently were held by the institution included in the list of the reporting member banks. This remnant of $12,146,000 was only on Monday, June 29, called for repayment on July 3. The whole thing serves to show what a factor these Government deposits, against which no reserves are required, may be for long periods of time.

Aside from the sale of the $821,116,000 of Treasury bonds here under discussion the financing of the United States Treasury during June consisted simply of the sale of some more Treasury bills bearing no interest but offered on a discount basis. Notice of this came on June 24, and it was announced as being the first financing operation for the new Government fiscal year beginning on July 1. On the day mentioned Ogden L. Mills, the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, invited tenders for two new series of Treasury bills for an aggregate of $100,000,000, "or thereabouts." Each of the two series was for $50,000,000, "or thereabouts," one being 91-day bills dated July 1 1931 and maturing Sept. 30 1931, and the other 90-day bills dated July 2 1931 and maturing Sept. 30 1931. Tenders were received up to two o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard time on June 29. The total of the bills applied for in the case of the two series combined was $381,261,000. For the 91-day bills, bearing date July 1, the applications reached $201,227,000, and the amount accepted was $50,026,000. The average price re- ceived for this series was 99.840, being an average rate on a bank discount basis of ⅝ of 1%. For the 90-day bills bear- ing date July 2 the applications reached $180,034,000. The total of the bills accepted was $50,050,000. The average price received for this series was 99.842, the average rate on a bank discount basis in this instance being also about ⅝ of 1% per annum. At the last sale of Treasury bills in May (May 28), when $80,000,000 of 91-day bills were offered, the amount applied for was $322,313,000 and the amount accepted $80,013,000, at an average price to the Government of 99.785, which was at an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 0.85% per annum. This last was the best price ever realized up to that time at any sale of Treasury bills, the closest previous figure having been at the sale of $60,000,- 000 90-day bills on Jan. 30 1931, which was effected at a dis- count rate of 0.95%. The June sale on a basis of ⅝ of 1% per annum, therefore, ranks as the very best price to the Govern- ment at which any sale of Treasury bills has ever been effected.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING JUNE 1931.

The stock market completely reversed its course during June and staged one of the most spectacular and sensational advances in Stock Exchange history. It was President Hoover's proposal for a one-year suspension of intergovernmental debt payments, including German reparations, that caused prices to mount with almost unequalled rapidity and register advances in a way which has rarely been witnessed in the past. It was with the announcement of that proposal that the market began to rise by leaps and bounds. However, even in advance of that event, in the early days of the month, it was evident that the market had really changed its course, and that, indeed, the long antecedent decline had palpably been carried too far. On Monday, June 1, and Tuesday, June 2, there were further startling breaks in prices on top of the long continued previous decline extending back over many months. These further breaks on the first two days of the month were so violent that it almost seemed as if the bottom was about to fall completely out. The upturn came the very next day, Wednesday, June 3; it came, too, with great suddenness and apparently was wholly unexpected. In many cases prices at the opening on June 3 were several points higher than at the close on Tuesday, and during the day there were advances of several points more. As a few conspicuous instances New York Central showed a net gain for the day of 5¼ points; Union Pacific a gain of 7¾; Southern Pacific, 6¾; Western Union, 7¼; United States Steel, 5½; Norfolk & Western, 8; Ingersoll Rand, 9; Consolidated Gas of N. Y., 6¼; Allied Chemical & Dye, 8¼; American Can, 6⅜; American Tel. & Tel., 7½; Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, 6¼; Rock Island, 6, and Auburn Auto, which always fluctuates widely and wildly, an advance for the day of no less than 42 points. This happened, too, at a time when July wheat in Chicago, as a result of the termination of Federal Farm Board control at the end of the previous month, touched 56⅝c., or the lowest level since 1896. Two main circumstances were mentioned as responsible for the sudden reversal at that time of the course of the market; the first was the fact that many banking institutions had fixed 20% as an adequate margin against collateral loans on stocks as compared with 25% previously and 30% or more in 1929. The influence of that circumstance was doubtless exaggerated; the real reason for the sudden great rise was no doubt that operators for a decline had overshot their mark and were now scared into covering on a very extensive scale. The second reason for the sharp rise was that the St. Louis-San Francisco RR. had definitely arranged for taking care of certain underlying bond issues due the 1st of July. This last unquestionably was responsible for the big recovery in the prices of all the different St. Louis-San Francisco issues, stocks and bonds.

The improvement inaugurated at that early period of the month may be said to have continued for another six or eight days. At the half-day session on Saturday, June 6, the market was rather weak, with declines of 2@3 points in most of the active specialties, which rather suggested the termination of the upswing in prices which had begun on June 3. On Monday, June 8, however, prices resumed their upward course. In the morning the market again encountered considerable selling pressure under the effects of which the previous Saturday's recession in prices was carried somewhat further; this was owing to the news from Chicago reporting numerous banking failures in the outlying districts of that city. A sharp rallying tendency soon developed, as a result of which not only were the early losses regained, but a generally higher level of prices established. On Tuesday, June 9, there was again some manifestation of weakness, due to the announcement of further bank failures in Chicago. Another adverse development on that day was the reduction from $4 per annum to $3 of the dividend on Western Electric stock, nearly the whole of which is owned by the American Tel. & Tel.; this sent the latter stock down about 5 points from its best price of the day, but the market quickly regained tone and Amer. Tel. & Tel. closed on that day at a net loss of only 3½ points. A number of other stocks kept it company, also showing net losses for the day. The losses, though, were not large, and a good number of shares actively dealt in recorded moderate advances for the day, following the sharp rise on June 3. On Wednesday, June 10, the action of the New York Central in maintaining its dividend at the lower rate declared during the previous quarter, instead of further reducing it, as had been feared would be the case, exerted a stimulating effect on the market generally. And, indeed, the railroad stocks showed a strong front throughout the whole of that week on the knowledge that the rail executives were planning an appeal the following week to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for an advance in rail rates. The next few days the market continued to display a good tone, with the course of prices generally, but irregularly, higher, though the steel stocks were laggards on account of the unfavorable status of the steel trade, and the oil stocks were also soft under the influence of the omission of the dividend on Sinclair Consolidated Oil. Then, however, the market for a time became reactionary, as indications of any revival in general trade were wholly lacking, while the steel industry continued to show further recessions in output. And then, also, the grain markets showed further decline to a new low level in a long series of years. Strangely enough, too, the railroad shares now became distinctly weak. The petition of the railroads to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for an advance in rates, instead of serving to stiffen the market for the railroad shares, appeared to have precisely the opposite effect. This was apparently due to the frank disclosure of their condition made by the railroads in citing the reasons why an increase in rates should be granted. To the public the conditions of the roads, as thus disclosed, appeared to be worse than had been generally supposed. In addition the Great Northern Railway and the Kansas City Southern reduced their dividends. At this time trading on the Stock Exchange was extremely light, transactions on Wednesday, June 17, dropping to below a million shares for the first time on any full five-hour day in nearly five years, or since Nov. 1 1926.

But on Saturday, June 20, a complete transformation in the state of the market again occurred. President Hoover's proposal for a one-year suspension of intergovernmental debt payments now became the governing factor. Intimations of what was contemplated were given in the statement issued late Friday evening, June 19, by President Hoover but which went no further than to say that since his return from the Central West he had been in conference with the leaders of both political parties, who happened to be in Washington, with respect to steps which the United States might take to assist in economic recovery both here and abroad, and directed particularly to strengthening the economic situation in Germany. This acted like wildfire in the half-day session on Saturday, June 20, the dealings being of unusual magnitude for a half-day session, notwithstanding that so many of the brokers had gone away over the week-end, and prices spurted up with great rapidity in all parts of the market. The advances in leading speculative issues ran all the way from 2¾ to 16¾ points, with U. S. Steel up 6 points, Union Pacific 10 points, Atchison 11 points and Auburn Auto 16¾ points. On Sunday morning, June 21 the daily papers published the President's full statement given out Saturday afternoon. This revealed the President's definite proposal of a complete suspension of all reparations and intergovernmental debt payments for a full year from July 1 1931. As a result, a wave of optimism spread all over the country, and the stock market on Monday, June 22, fairly boiled, with transactions running in excess of 4½ million shares, and with another sweep upward in prices extending all through the list, the rise being only second to that enjoyed the previous Saturday. On Tuesday, June 23, on realizing sales and intimations that the President's proposals might meet with French opposition, prices suffered a moderate reaction. On Wednesday, June 24, values swept upward again, on a wave of great enthusiasm, and trading was on such a scale that the day's transactions ran in excess of 5,000,000 shares. United States Steel common advanced to above par and gains for the day in the active specialties ran from 2 points up to 12 points, National Lead having the latter gain to its credit. Other contributing factors in the improvement, besides the proposal for a debt moratorium, acted as a further stimulus to the rise in prices on that day. The announcement of an increase of 45c. in the wholesale price of cigarettes, with indications of a corresponding advance in retail prices, served as a basis for bullish demonstrations in the case of the tobacco stocks, and the advance in the price of copper, due to a sudden heavy demand for the metal, served to propel those stocks upward, too, while maintenance of the existing dividend rates by Baltimore & Ohio and Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg. acted to strengthen the market generally. Then, also, the action of the Federal Radio Commission in upholding the Radio Corp.'s plea to be permitted to retain 1,400 of its licenses, gave a further upward impulse to the shares of the latter. Reactions tendencies were in evidence on June 24, and on some of the preceding days, but prices were, on the whole, well maintained. The reaction was due in part to sales to realize profits, but also to news which seemed to indicate that the French Government was not likely to accede to the Hoover proposal in its essential respect, this feeling being emphasized by an overwhelming vote in favor of the French Government in its stand against the proposal in the Chamber of Deputies on June 27 by a vote of 386 to 189, and in the French Senate on June 30 by a vote of 197 to 5, one hundred Radical Socialists abstaining from the ballot to avoid the appearance of opposing the Government.

Dealings for the month were not of exceptional proportions, notwithstanding the great activity in the market in the closing week of the month. The aggregate of the sales on the New York Stock Exchange for the month of June was 38,643,847 shares as against 46,659,525 shares in May, and comparing with 76,953,250 shares in June 1930. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for June 1931 were only 9,972,998 shares as against 28,128,750 shares in June 1930. The course of the market is well illustrated in the averages of 50 selected stocks as given by the New York "Times"—25 railroad shares and 25 industrial stocks. The average for the 25 railroad stocks stood at 60.15 at the close of May (May 29); it dropped to 55.33 June 2, then reached a high of 73.81 on June 27 and closed on June 30 at 70.41. The average for the 25 industrial stocks from a close at the end of May of 180.32, moved down to 169.17 June 2, rose to 215.76 June 27 and closed June 30 at 206.20. The combined average for the whole 50 stocks which stood at 120.23 at the end of May, reached a low of 112.25 on June 2 and a high of 144.78 on June 27 with the close June 30 at 138.30. In the case of many separate stocks the fluctuations covered a much wider range, though in other instances the fluctuations were encompassed within much narrowed limits. Taking first the railroad stocks Atchison after opening June 1 at 140 and dropping to 132¾ June 2, spurted up to 173¾ June 27, with the close June 30 at 166; Baltimore & Ohio from an opening price June 1 of 47¼, fell to 43½ June 2, then rose to 67¾ June 27, with the close June 30 at 61½; New York Central, opening at 75⅞, sold down to 71½ June 2, then advanced to 99 June 26 and closed June 30 at 92¼; Delaware & Hudson, opening at 116½, declined to 107½ June 3, rose to 136 June 26 and closed June 30 at 134; Southern Pacific opening at 72 June 1, touched 67¼ the same day, advanced to 88 June 27 and closed June 30 at 83; Union Pacific dropped from 143½ at the opening on June 1 to 137 on June 2, spurted up to 175¼ June 27 and closed June 30 at 168; Norfolk & Western after having dropped from 152 at the opening on June 1 to 139 June 2, jumped to 183 June 26, and was 171 at the close on June 30; Southern Railway, opening at 29, declined to 27 June 2, touched 41 June 26 and closed June 30 at 38¾; Rock Island com. opening at 24⅝, declined to 22½ June 3, advanced to 47 June 27 and closed June 30 at 43¾; Erie com., after declining from 15⅛ at the opening on June 1 to 13½ June 2, rose to 26⅞ June 26 and closed June 30 at 24½; Missouri Pacific from a low of 14 June 3 touched 30⅛ June 27, with the close June 30 at 27½; and St. Louis-San Francisco after selling down to 9 June 2 advanced to 22½ June 27, with the close June 30 at 19¾.

The industrial stocks and the public utilities, as well as the miscellaneous list of shares, passed through a similar course of fluctuations. Allied Chemical & Dye, after tumbling on June 1 from 105 to 102¾, moved up to 133¼ June 27, with the close June 30 at 128¾; American Can after falling on June 1 from 94⅝ to 92¼, rose to 114⅜ June 27, with the close June 30 at 109¾; Amer. & For. Pow. declined from 24 at the opening on June 1 to 21¼ June 3, then advanced to 38⅜ June 27, and was 34¼ at the close on June 30; U. S. Steel after touching 83⅛ June 2, swung up to 104¾ June 27, and closed June 30 at 100¾; Bethlehem Steel, after touching 38½ June 1, reached 54 June 27, and closed June 30 at 50⅞; Amer. Tel. & Tel. sold at a low of 156½ June 2 and at a high of 184¾ June 27, closing June 30 at 179½; Int. Tel. & Tel., after selling down from 24 at the opening on June 1 to 20⅝ June 2, touched a high of 36⅛ June 27, with the close June 30 at 33⅞; Amer. Smelt. & Ref., from a low of 24⅜ on June 3, rose to 40¾ June 27 and closed June 30 at 36⅞; Anaconda Copper, which touched 18¾ June 3, recorded a high of 32¾ June 26, and closed June 30 at 28⅞; Kennecott Copper, from a low of 14⅜ June 3, moved up to 25¾ June 25, and closed June 30 at 20½; Gen. Elec. fluctuated between 36 June 2 and 46¼ June 27, and closed June 30 at 43½; Gen. Motors advanced from 31⅛ June 2 to 40½ June 25, and closed June 30 at 38; Auburn Automobile, as has been its wont, moved within exceptionally wide extremes; with the price 155 at the opening on June 1, it sold down to 135 June 2, then jumped to 201 June 25, and closed June 30 at 181¼; Con. Gas of New York, from 83⅛ June 2, rose to 100⅜ June 27 and closed June 30 at 96½; J. I. Case, after declining from 65⅝ June 1 to 59½ June 3, advanced to 93¼ June 30, though closing at only 90 on that day; Amer. Wat. Wks. & Elec., after receding from 45¼ at the opening on June 1 to 40⅜ June 3, reached a high of 57 June 30, with the close on the latter day at 54¼; Fox Film "A", from a low 13½ June 2, sold up to 22⅞ June 27, with the close June 30 at 19⅝ ex dividend; Johns-Manville sold at 42⅛ June 1 and at 61 June 27, and closed June 30 at 58; Loews, Inc., from a low of 36⅛ June 2, advanced to 48¼ June 29, and closed June 30 at 45¼; North American moved between 56¾ June 3 and 73½ June 27, and closed June 30 at 70¾; Pub. Serv. of N. J. com. registered a low of 73⅛ June 2 and a high of 87⅝ June 26, and closed June 30 at 85; Radio Corp. of Amer. advanced from 12⅝ June 3 to 22¼ June 25, and closed June 30 at 19½; Stand. Oil of N. J., from a low of 30⅝ June 2, rose to 41¾ June 25 and closed June 30 at 38¾; Union Car. & Carbide advanced from 43½ June 2 to 55⅜ June 27 and closed June 30 at 52¾; Westingh. Elec. & Mfg. reached its low for the month at 54¼ June 18, and touched a high of 73 June 27, with the close June 30 at 68⅞.

It will be noticed that the low figure for the month in nearly all cases was recorded during the first three days, while the high point as a rule was reached on Saturday June 27; on Monday, June 29, and Tuesday, June 30, reactionary tendencies developed in the case of many stocks, owing to a feeling of uncertainty as to whether France was likely to assent to Mr. Hoover's moratorium except on terms calculated to detract from its efficiency. In the break in the opening days of the month the great majority of stocks tumbled to new low figures for the year. Actual count shows that 665 stocks recorded new low figures for the year at some time during the month of June, while only 56 stocks reached new high figures for the year notwithstanding the great rise in the market the latter part of June, which rise, though, after all, was merely a recovery of the heavy losses, and only part recovery at that, previously sustained during 1931. On the Curb Exchange 447 stocks touched new low figures for the year during June, and only 38 new highs.

A particularly gratifying feature was the fact that the bond market showed very striking recovery as well as the stock market. In many bonds the rise was as pronounced as in the case of the stock market. Some of these are now called second grade issues because of the shrinkage in earnings and profits suffered by the companies which put them out and the heavy depreciation which as a result occurred in their market values, but which only about two years ago would without dispute have been placed in the gilt-edged class. A few illustrations will suffice to show how the bond market kept pace with the stock market in the upward movement of both. St Louis-San Fran. cons. 4½s series "A" advanced from 40 June 2 to 60 June 27 and closed June 30 at 58; Missouri Pacific gen. 4s rose from 54 June 2 to 64¼ June 26, and closed on June 30 at 63; Erie refunding imp. 5s 1927 moved up from 65½ June 3 to 80 June 26 and closed June 30 at 79; Southern Railway gen. 4s series "A" rose from 75¼ June 3 to 82 June 25, which latter was also the closing price June 30; Kansas City Southern refunding imp. 5s 1950 rose from 83 June 3 to 94½ June 25 and closed June 30 at 92. A feature of the bond market was that foreign government issues shared in the upward movement. German International 5½s which had tumbled from 69¾ June 1 to 63 June 12, sold up to 77 June 26, though closing at 72¼ June 30. Recovery here, of course, was to be expected in view of President Hoover's relief measures for Germany, but other foreign issues also participated in the rise, including Australian and numerous Latin American issues. Argentine government 6s series "A" rose from 73⅛ June 1 to 90½ June 26, with the close June 30 at 86; New South Wales 5s of 1957 from 40½ June 1 to 62¼ June 30, with the close at 61½ and Brazilian external 8s from 49 June 3 to 81 June 26, with the close June 30 at 78. In the following we bring together in tabular form a more extended list of domestic and foreign bonds to indicate the trend of the bond market during June:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING JUNE 1931.

There was no modification during June, the closing month of the half year, of the condition of extreme ease in the money market which has prevailed for so long. Nor were there any new developments during the month, after the very noteworthy occurrences of the previous month. As a matter of fact, when the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was marked down to 1½%, the lowest figure ever established by any central bank in the world, and the New York Reserve institution undertook to purchase bankers' acceptances on a discount basis of only 1 % per annum, there was little more that could be done in that quarter to accentuate the ease. However, whatever happenings there were during June were all such as must serve to accentuate the prevailing ease and to add to the congestion of loanable funds in the New York market and throughout the country. We might mention as one of these influences or happenings that the sale of the $821,116,000 of Treasury bonds for which payment had to be made June 15 created over $400,000,000 of Government deposits, as related in the earlier part of this article in discussing the Treasury financing of the month, against which no reserves need be kept, these Government deposits consisting very largely of what previously were private deposits held by the depositary institutions and against which reserves did have to be kept, and which were now suddenly converted into Government deposits, to remain in that form until the United States Treasury, in the ordinary course, draws them down and finally uses them up by calls for repayment of the amounts held. Then brokers' loans suffered further contraction, week by week, thereby diminishing the demand for accommodation on that account, until towards the very close of the month, when President Hoover's proposal for a suspension for one year of German reparations and also all other payments on intergovernmental account suddenly brought about a revival of Stock Exchange speculation. The acute crisis through which Germany passed and which led up to the action of President Hoover might, under ordinary circumstances, have found some reflection, some disturbance, in the New York money market, but, as it happened, the flight of foreign credit from Germany and of foreign and domestic capital, which was the cause of the German crisis, led to huge gold exports from Germany, large amounts of which found their way to London, some to Paris, and some also (perhaps far the greater part) to the United States. No inconsiderable amounts of the gold shipped came on direct shipments of the metal from Germany to New York, but the bulk of the whole accrued to the United States through the release of gold held by the New York Federal Reserve Bank for account of foreign banks, and technically termed "earmarked" gold. Not all of the gold released from earmark during the month and added to the domestic stock of the metal represented gold held for German account, rather the most of it apparently consisted of French gold under earmark in this country, but against which Berlin made actual shipments of the metal to Paris and perhaps to London, thereby saving ocean transportation costs. We give the details of the gold movement for the month in our review of sterling exchange further along in this article and mention the matter here only as showing that the German troubles served only to intensify the abnormal condition of ease which has so long existed at New York.

In these circumstances the story of the money market for the month of June is contained in the simple statement that substantially no changes in rates occurred in any branch or subdivision of the market. The call loan rate on the Stock Exchange remained unchanged throughout the month at 1½%, that having been the charge both for renewals and for new loans on each and every day of the month. As a matter of fact, the 1½% rate has ruled undeviatingly since May 13, when there was a return to that figure from the previous day's range of 1@1½%. Large amounts of offerings of call money overflowed nearly every day into the outside market, and there loans could be obtained nearly all the time, with only an occasional day of exception, at a concession of ¼%, or ½ of 1% from the Stock Exchange official rate. In other words, in the outside market the loaning rate nearly all the time was 1¼% per annum, and often only 1%.

Nor were there any changes of consequence in the time loan branch of the market for collateral loans. There was, however, just a little stiffening in time loan rates during the last 10 days of the month, evidenced either by the dropping of the inner figure of the range or the raising of the outside figure of such range. For instance, 30-day loans, which had been quoted at a range of 1@1¼%, were now quoted at the single figure of 1¼%; 60-day loans, which had been quoted at a range of 1@1¼%, were now quoted at 1¼@1½%; 90-day loans and loans for 120 days, which had been quoted at 1¼@1½%, were raised to 1¼@1¾%, while the range on loans for five and six months was raised from 1½@1¾% to 1¾@2%. But as all these time loan quotations were purely nominal, and virtually no business was being done in time loans, these changes were devoid of much significance. The business in time loans seemed to be confined almost entirely to an occasional 90-day loan, and practically every transaction was given special consideration with nearly always some concession from the quoted figures, which, as stated, were little better than nominal quotations.

Rates for commercial paper were also without much change during the month, and choice names of four to six months' maturity continued to rule at 2@2¼%, with the inside figure usually the prevailing figure, while names less well known commanded 2½@2¾%. Prime paper was at all times in excellent demand, but, as for some time previously, transactions were limited owing to the dearth of available supplies of paper of a satisfactory character. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review," under date of July 1, in discussing the supply of paper, stated that whatever new paper came into dealers' hands as a result of commercial and industrial borrowing quickly found its way into the portfolios of investing banks—also that the volume of open market commercial paper outstanding declined slightly further during May, according to reports received by the Federal Reserve Bank from 20 dealers. At $305,000,000 on May 31, it is stated, outstandings were 44% smaller than a year ago.

The market for bankers' acceptances was wholly devoid of special features. Not a single change occurred in the open market rates for bankers' acceptances during the month, the quotations of the American Acceptance Council remaining throughout the month at 1% bid and ⅞ of 1% asked for 30-day, 60-day and 90-day bills; at 1⅛% bid and 1% asked for 120-day bills, and at 1⅜% bid and 1¼% asked for bills running 150 and 180 days. There appeared to be a good demand all through the month for prime bank acceptances, but it seemed to be confined to the shorter maturities, and the latter part of the month the supply of paper seemed to be quite plentiful and somewhat in excess of demand. However, the fact that the Reserve Bank continued to maintain its buying rate for acceptances at only 1% per annum, and yet the Reserve banks were unable to add to their holdings of acceptances, but rather suffered a decrease in the amount held from $134,155,000 June 3 to $103,341,000 July 1 clearly goes to show that the volume of acceptances at no time was in oversupply. According to the report of the American Acceptance Council, released June 18, and covering the results of its survey for the month of May, the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding at the end of May was only $9,506,275 less than at the end of April and was $30,308,545 in excess of the amount at the end of May of the previous year. In other words, the total stood at $1,412,515,000 May 29 1931 as against $1,422,021,675 on April 30 1931, but comparing with $1,382,206,855 on May 31 1930. The "Monthly Review" of the New York Federal Reserve Agent, in discussing the bill market for the month, had the following to say:

"During the first part of June the discount market was moderately active, but as dealers' purchases were somewhat in excess of their sales, the dealers' portfolios of bankers' bills rose considerably further to the highest figure since last autumn. Around the middle of the month investment demand for bills was stimulated to some extent by the efforts of New York banks to employ a portion of the funds which accumulated in this market at that time, and dealers' sales consequently were in much larger volume than their purchases, with a resultant market decline in their portfolios. In the latter part of the month, however, the volume of the investment demand for bills was affected somewhat by a decrease in foreign buying, and the discount houses' holdings of bills tended to rise again, although remaining well below the level reached early in June. With large excess reserves in the possession of the New York banks during much of the month, few bills were offered to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the total bill holdings of the Reserve Banks tended downward after the first week of June."

There were no changes whatever during June in the rediscount rates of any of the Federal Reserve Banks, this being quite in contrast with the numerous changes which occurred during May.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

The record of brokers' loans, as shown by the weekly statements of the reporting member banks in the New York Federal Reserve district, continued to be one of decline until in the last week of the month, when activity on the Stock Exchange increased as a result of President Hoover's move to secure relief for Germany by his proposal to suspend for a year German reparations payments and also intergovernmental payments of all kinds. The total of these loans had been reduced from $1,849,000,000 April 15, week by week, to $1,574,000,000 May 27, and during June was further reduced to $1,406,000,000 June 24, making a contraction for the 10 weeks of $443,000,000. The statement for July 1, however, with speculation once more active on the Stock Exchange, showed the total increased again to $1,479,000,000. The Stock Exchange statement, which is only compiled monthly and covers the even month of June, and which must be supposed to reflect the presence of the some condition, namely, a tendency to continued contraction the early part of the month, with a tendency to expansion the latter part of the month, shows a decrease for the month of $43,358,728, the total of the borrowing by Stock Exchange members June 30 being reported at $1,391,324,922, which compares with $1,434,683,650 on May 29, $1,651,128,124 April 30, and $1,908,810,494 on March 31. It should be remembered that at $1,434,683,650 May 29 the amount of the Stock Exchange borrowing was smaller than at any previous date back to the time when the Stock Exchange first began compiling the figures, which was in January 1926.

As to the condition statements of the Federal Reserve banks, the main feature here during June was the tendency to let Federal Reserve credit expand, and this notwithstanding the holdings of bankers' acceptances purchased in the open market continued to undergo contraction even though the Federal Reserve banks continued ready to buy acceptances at the abnormally low rate of 1%. The total of these acceptances, after increasing from $124,501,000 May 27 to $134,155,000 June 3, steadily declined thereafter and July 1 was down to $103,341,000. On the other hand, the discount holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, representing direct borrowing by the member banks, increased week by week, except the last week and as against $152,852,000 May 27, increased to $197,678,000 June 24, and then dropped to $150,200,000 July 1. At the same time, the Federal Reserve authorities, after having kept their holdings of United States Government securities pretty even at a figure somewhat below $600,000,000, suddenly made new purchases to amount of nearly $66,000,000. As a result, the amount of these United States securities held, as against $598,368,000 May 27, stood at $618,503,000 June 24 and at $663,399,000 July 1. The result altogether was that total bill and security holdings, which May 27 had stood at $876,489,000, was $947,334,000 June 24 and $927,541,000 July 1. The volume of Federal Reserve notes, which had been steadily expanding for a long time, underwent further expansion during June, the total outstanding rising from $1,551,808,000 May 27 to $1,674,189,000 June 24, and to $1,738,396,000 July 1. Of course the amount of gold reserves also increased as a result of the large gold importations, but why the Reserve authorities should want to acquire such a large additional amount of gold through the issuance of Reserve notes in exchange for the same instead of allowing the gold to go into circulation in the shape of gold certificates was not altogether clear. The gold holdings of the 12 Federal Reserve banks increased from $3,259,273,000 May 27 to $3,382,589,000 June 24 and to $3,412,041,000 July 1. At the latter figure comparison is with $2,993,409,000 a year before on July 2 1930. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation at $1,738,396,000 July 1 1931 compares with $1,432,252,000 July 2 1930.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING JUNE.

The market for sterling exchange and, indeed, all the foreign exchanges, during June was completely under the domination of the financial crisis in Germany, which led to a flight of foreign credit from the German Reich on an unexampled scale, leading to huge withdrawals of the metal from the Bank of Germany—this flight of capital being on an even greater scale than that which followed the unexpected results of the German elections the previous September. The collapse of the German mark disorganized all the foreign exchanges, and operated to the advantage of all the financial centers where the capital withdrawn from Germany found lodgment or to which it returned—to the centers whence it originally came. London received large amounts of the gold expelled from Germany, and the centers of all the countries that remained neutral during the late war, such as Holland, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries, received benefits from this flight of capital from Germany, largely foreign but some of it also German domestic capital, albeit benefits which, considering their source and the menace they involved to Germany were far from being entirely welcome. In the three weeks from the close of May to June 23 the Bank of Germany suffered a diminution of its gold holdings in the prodigious sum of 979,100,000 marks and lost 93,600,000 marks more in foreign exchange, the total loss thus having been 1,072,700,000 marks, or about $268,175,000. It was this critical situation and the dire consequences threatened, not only to Germany but to the whole world, that induced President Hoover to intervene for the salvation of Germany. The news of this action had the immediate effect of arresting the flight of capital from Germany and also of checking, to a great extent, the further outflow of gold from Germany, and the Bank of Germany in its return for the final quarter of June showed an increase in its gold holdings of 9,222,000 marks and in addition showed a gain of 206,980,000 marks in its foreign exchange holdings, the two together making 216,902,000 marks. The German outlook was further improved with the announcement which came when President Hoover was engaged in getting the other governments concerned to agree to his proposals for a one-year suspension of debt payments, that a credit for $100,000,000 had been arranged in favor of the Bank of Genmany to enable it to tide over its heavy first of July payments by the Bank of England, the Bank of France, our Federal Reserve System, and the Bank for International Settlements (our Federal Reserve banks carrying a participation up to a total of $25,000,000). The extending of relief to Austria, where the situation has been hardly less serious than in Germany as the result of the embarrassment the previous month of the Kreditanstalt fur Handel und Gewerbe, the biggest private bank in Austria, was also highly beneficial. As far as the United States is concerned the effect of the German troubles was seen mainly in the release of earmarked gold held by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for foreign account. These releases were continuous all through the month, the gold thus released swelling our domestic stocks of the metal. These releases were at first supposed to be gold held here for account of the Bank of Germany, but the releases finally assumed such dimensions that it became evident they could not be consisting of German holdings alone. On Monday, June 15, the New York Reserve Bank reported a decrease in the amount of earmarked gold in the large sum of $41,680,000, though a late transaction on that day served to reduce the decrease for the day by $10,000,000. All of which made it certain that other earmarked gold (presumably mainly on French account) was being released here for the benefit of Germany. The supposition was that through some triangular arrangement foreign gold held here was being made available for Germany, either to expedite the movement or to save freight charges in moving the metal across the ocean. In its "Monthly Review" the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reports the amount of gold released from earmark during the month of June at $92,000,000, besides which $26,000,000 gold came here directly from Germany.

The position of the Bank of England was greatly improved as a result of the gold which it obtained from Germany and what it bought in the open market at London. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York estimates that the Bank of England increased its gold holdings during June by about $60,000,000, chiefly through the acquisition of some $40,000,000 from Germany and by the purchase of South African gold offered in the open market in London. It also said that a shipment of $4,800,000 was received by Germany from Russia. In its return for the week ending June 3 the Bank of England showed a gain of £856,051 gold; in the week ending June 10 a further gain of £3,353,445; in the week ending June 17 a still further gain of £5,699,280; in the week ending June 24 another gain of £2,026,783, and in the week ending July 1 £407,522 more. June is the season of normal stress for sterling exchange, and the present year the demand for sterling to meet tourist requirements has been quite good thus far. However, the fluctuations in sterling exchange during the month were again within narrow limits, and the rate for cable transfers on London on June 30 was not materially different from that at the beginning of the month. In other words, the range for cable transfers June 30 was 4.86 5/16@4.86⅜ against 4.86½@4.86 21/32, the range on June 1. Canadian exchange continued at a discount all through the month, and this resulted in further shipments of the metal from the Dominion to the United States in very substantial sums. Some more gold also came to this country from South America, while on the Pacific Coast additional importations of the metal from China and Japan occurred. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York summarizes the gold movement for the month as follows:

"Of particular interest in the unusually heavy gold movements during June were the receipt late in the month of $26,000,000 of gold from Germany, the first direct shipment from that country since May 1929, and shipments of $17,750,000 from Canada, the first since January 1931. In addition, $4,900,000 of gold was received from Argentina, $2,000,000 from Peru, and $2,500,000 from Cuba. At San Francisco, $6,300,000 arrived from China and $400,000 from Japan. The largest gain to the country's gold stock during the month, however, resulted from a net decrease of $92,000,000 in gold held under earmark for foreign account, including $2,000,000 released by the Boston Reserve Bank. A preliminary estimate indicates a net gain to the United States monetary gold stock of $153,000,000 during June, and of $357,000,000 for the first six months of the year. This compares with a gain of $251,000,000 in the first half of 1930, and of $309,000,000 in the whole of last year."

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

In the exchanges on the Continent of Europe, the feature above all other features was, of course, the complete collapse of the German mark, indicative of the great crisis through which the German Republic was passing. There had been a sharp decline in the mark the latter part of May, but this was due to the financial difficulties in which Austria was involved, owing to the embarrassment of the Kreditanstalt, the largest private bank in Austria, and the close relationship existing between Germany and Austria. It now appeared that Germany was having troubles of her own as a result of which a flight of capital from Germany was taking place on a gigantic scale. The Bank of Germany, to meet the demands upon it and to prevent a complete collapse of the mark, was obliged to furnish enormous amounts of gold for export. The extent of these exports of the metal has been indicated above in our remarks concerning the course of sterling exchange, where also reference has been made to the complete change in the situation which came with the definite announcement on June 20 that President Hoover was engaged in a move for the relief of German finances by a proposal for the suspension for a year of German reparations and other intergovernmental debt payments. The other measures of relief undertaken, such as the international credit in favor of the Bank of Germany for $100,000,000 extended by the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Federal Reserve System (the latter up to a total of $25,000,000), and the Bank for International Settlements have also been outlined further above, as likewise the action of the Bank of England in extending a credit for 150,000,000 schillings ($21,000,000) to Austria when the Bank of France had refused a loan to that country except on conditions which to Austria seemed humiliating. It will be recalled that at the close of May the Bank for International Settlements, along with 10 Central banks, agreed to put 100,000,000 schillings credit at the disposal of the Austrian bank.

But both the Bank of Germany and the National Bank of Austria resorted to other measures in order to check the drain upon the gold reserves of the two institutions. On Saturday, June 13, the Bank of Germany, owing to the heavy drain on its gold holdings, advanced its discount rate at one operation from 5% to 7%, effective on Monday, June 15. On this last mentioned day the National Bank of Austria, which on June 6 had raised its rate from 5% to 6%, further advanced to 7½%. At the same time the National Bank of Hungary moved up its rate from 5½% to 7%. Earlier in the month, that is, on June 4, before the German crisis had reached its acute stage, the National Bank of Bulgaria reduced its rate of discount ½ of 1%, still leaving it, however, at 8½%. On June 29 the National Bank of Yugoslavia raised its rate from 5½% to 6½%. The lower rate had been in effect since May 28 1930. The latter part of June, as a result of the various relief measures and the proposal of President Hoover, the German mark rapidly regained value. During May cable transfers on Berlin dropped suddenly, presumably as a result of the Austrian troubles, on May 26 from 23.81c. to 23.74⅝c., and later in the month the rate dropped even lower, that is, to 23.74½c., with the range on the closing business day of the month 23.74½@23.75¼c. The first two or three days of June German cable transfers ruled at about the closing figures of May. But by degrees the situation became exceedingly critical, and on both June 11 and June 12 cable transfers on Berlin sold as low as 23.70½c. In the recovery which subsequently ensued the mark got up to 23.76¼ June 22. Towards the close of the month, as doubts arose regarding obtaining the consent of France to Mr. Hoover's proposal, the mark again tapered off somewhat, with the range June 30 at 23.73½@23.73¾. There were no great changes in the rate of exchange on Vienna, and, indeed, transactions in the Austrian schilling are always very light. As against 14.06¼@14.07 on June 1, cable transfers on Vienna on June 17 sold down to 14.04@14.06, with the close June 30 at 14.06. The changes in the gold holdings of the Bank of Germany have already been noted. The note circulation of the Bank of Germany, after following the usual course of showing contraction the first three-quarters of the month, namely, 219,827,000 marks decrease the first week, 190,640,000 marks the second quarter, and 162,630,000 marks the third quarter, also followed the usual course in showing a large expansion in the final quarter of the month, but his time the increase reached the large sum of 568,705,000 marks.

The Austrian situation, as already stated, became greatly improved at the very beginning of the month by the action of the central banks of Europe, through the Bank for International Settlements, in arranging a credit in favor of the Austrian National Bank. Advices from Vienna then stated that the Austrian National Council had voted to guarantee foreign credits and reorganize the Kreditanstalt. Later in the month further improvement occurred as a result of the action of the Bank of England in agreeing to advance a credit of 150,000,000 schillings. The French franc did not show any very important fluctuation, though on the whole the tendency was towards fractionally lower figures, and on Tuesday, June 30, cable transfers on Paris were 3.91 7/16 against 3.91 31/32@3.92 1/16 on June 1. The Bank of France showed an increase in its gold holdings of 299,234,880 francs in the week ending June 6, of 205,199,796 francs increase in the week ending June 13, of 386,764,587 francs increase in the week ending June 20, but a decrease of 99,636,380 francs in the week ending June 27. The Italian lira also was devoid of any wide fluctuations, and cable transfers on Italy were 5.23½@5.23 9/16 June 30 against 5.23 5/16@5.23 9/16 on June 1.

Legal stabilization of Jugoslavia's currency became effective on June 28 1931, according to a new law of May 11, signed by the King. Its value is fixed at $0.01761 (26.5 milligrams of pure gold to 100 dinars), at which figure it has been practically stable since the latter part of 1925, according to Commercial Attache Emil Kekich at Belgrade, in a report to the Department of Commerce. Under date of June 9 the Department also had the following to say:

For this stabilization operation a part of the loan recently obtained from a foreign banking group, comprising French, Swiss, Czechoslovak, Swedish and Dutch banks, will be utilized. This loan totaled 1,025,000,000 French francs ($40,180,000) and was secured under an agreement signed at Paris on May 8 1931.

The note issue privilege is vested in the National Bank and the restrictions on the export of capital are abolished. The legal reserve requirement against outstanding notes and other demand obligations is fixed at 35% gold and stable foreign currencies (25% gold within the country or deposited abroad and 10% foreign currencies). The total cover for notes in circulation and demand obligations is expected to approximate 50%, or 3,000,000,000 dinars. Subsidiary coinage is limited under the present law to 650,000,000 dinars. Heretofore the National Bank covered notes in circulation to the extent of 35% in gold, silver, and foreign currencies; but no cover was obligatory for other demand obligations, which often ranged as high as 1,500,000,000 dinars.

As was to be expected, exchange on the countries of Europe which were neutral during the World War were dominated largely by the course of the German mark. As capital took flight from Germany it naturally found lodgment in the neighboring countries, like Switzerland and Holland, and also at the Scandinavian centers. The result was that exchange rates on all these points advanced as the mark continued its downward course, and tapered off again as the mark improved in value. The first few days of June, before the German situation became really acute, exchange rates on the neutral points showed a declining tendency, but when the German situation really became critical and the flight of the mark assumed huge dimensions, the course of exchange on most of the neutral centers moved sharply upward, only to react again as the German situation improved and, in the case of Swiss francs, tumbling even lower than when rates were sent upward by the unfortunate developments in Germany. Thus cable transfers on Switzerland declined from 19.40 June 1 to 19.39 June 5, then advanced to 19.42½ June 18, from which figure, however, there was a drop to 19.33¼ June 29, with the range June 30 19.35½@19.38. Cable transfers on Amsterdam sold down from 40.25½ June 1 to 40.22¼ June 4, and then got as high as 40.27 June 16, thereafter declining to 40.23 June 29, with the close June 30 at 40.23½@40.24. The Scandinavian exchanges also moved up and down in closely similar fashion. The Norwegian crown on cable transfers, as against 26.79½ June 2, sold down to 26.77¼ June 12, but was as high as 26.80 on June 23, with the close June 30 at 26.78, the same as on the opening day. The Swedish crown, as against 26.82 on June 2, touched a low of 26.79 on June 13, 14 and 15, but thereafter advanced to 26.82½ June 23, with the close June 30 at 26.81½. The Danish crown, as against 26.79½ June 2, touched a low of 26.77½ on June 12, and on several succeeding days, but registered a high of 26.79½ June 23, with the rate June 30 at 26.78. The Spanish peseta fluctuated widely, as was to be expected: Cable transfers on Spain moved up from 8.40@9.06 June 1 to 10.12 June 15, then fell back to 9.38 June 27, with an upward reaction again the last two days of the month, on the news of the Republican successes at the elections on Sunday, June 28; the close June 30 was at 9.74@9.83. Accounts regarding the financial operations of the Provisional Government of Spain were more or less conflicting all through the month, but what apparently happened was that a $30,000,000 credit to Spain was granted by the Bank of France on agreement that the Bank of Spain would ship the equivalent amount of gold to France. Besides this, a credit for $11,730,000 previously granted by the Bank for International Settlements was extended when due by the Bank of France.

From Lisbon, Portugal, June 1, Associated Press advices reported that the Minister of Finance of that country had issued a decree ordering the stabilization of the Portuguese escudo at 110 to the pound sterling (about 4 2/5c.), effective July 1. It was stated that from that time on notes of the Bank of Portugal would be convertible in gold. All notes of 2½, 5 and 10 escudo denomination would be withdrawn and superseded by silver coins of the same value. The Department of Commerce at Washington reported that stabilization of the escudo, Portugal's national unit of currency on a gold basis of approximately $0.0442, would terminate a long period of exchange uncertainty in that country and provide a definite advantage to Portuguese trade.

Exchange on South America was marked by decided improvement in the value of the Argentine peso. Cable transfers on Argentina, June 30, were 32.00@32.05 against 30.20@30.45 June 1. The Brazilian paper milreis also showed appreciation in value, though part of this was lost again before the end of the month. Cable transfers on Brazil rose from 6.80@6.85 June 1 to 7.95@8.00 June 11, with the range June 30 7.70@7.75. Argentina continued to make large shipments of gold to New York and to London, and grain shipments from Argentina were on a large scale, though at low prices, and the two factors combined undoubtedly served to improve exchange rates. In the case of Brazil the burden of heavy interest payments on foreign loans appeared to have been temporarily lightened by the announcement which came from the office of the American bankers, namely, Speyer & Co. and J. Henry Schoder Banking Corp., that they were authorized by Dr. Marcos de Souza Dantaz, Secretary of Finance and of the Treasury of the State of San Paulo, to say that, owing to temporary exchange difficulty, the Government of the State of San Paulo had requested its bankers, in order to meet the next payments of interest and amortizations, to utilize temporarily the service reserve funds set aside and held by them applicable for such a contingency. The bankers, accordingly, gave notice that the coupons maturing July 1 on the bonds for which the service was provided would be paid at the office of the bankers as usual.

In exchange on the Far East the feature was the recovery in the price of silver. Silver in London moved up quite steadily from 12⅛d. per ounce on May 29 to 13 13/16d. June 27, with the close June 30 at 13½d. This occurred notwithstanding that the political situation in China continued quite disturbed, owing to the new rebellion against the National Government at Nanking. The tael on Shanghai for checks was 32⅛@32 11/16 June 30 against 28 13/16@29 June 1, and the dollar on Hongkong for checks was 25½@25⅞ June 30 against 23¼@23 7/16 June 1. The Yokohama gold yen ruled very steady, with the rate June 30 49.35@49½ against 49.36@49½ June 1.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during June and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bond are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked as (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).
